

MOVE TO FORCE TESTIMONY OF SINCLAIR AGENT

Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company, is accused in one of the four affidavits, which caused a mistrial in the case yesterday, of having received reports regularly from 14 or 15 Burns sleuths, hired to check on the movements and financial status of the jury. The affidavit said the detectives' real employer was Harry F. Sinclair.

Day yesterday refused to answer certain questions by a grand jury preparing to vote indictments for jury tampering. He refused a second time this afternoon. It was announced when the grand jury recessed for lunch that that body would certify to a District of Columbia supreme court justice, probably Presiding Justice Walter L. McCoy, that Day had refused to answer. It also was divulged that the U. S. district attorney would inform the court that the reasons Day advanced for not testifying were insufficient.

It would then be up to the judge either to grant Day immunity from testifying or order him to answer the grand jury's questions.

Eugene Blauvelt, French chauffeur for Harry F. Sinclair during the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial here, was called before the grand jury this afternoon.

The chauffeur told reporters before he entered the grand jury room that he was employed with his car by A. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company.

Day is charged by the government with being the "contact man" between Burns detectives, who shadowed the jurors, and the detectives' employer, who, it is charged, was Sinclair.

A big parade of witnesses started at 11:30 a. m. today before the District of Columbia grand jury investigating the claims of jury tampering.

Attorney Learned Much From Senator Walsh

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—In the office of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, where the "Teapot Dome scandal" inquiry received its impetus several years ago, a blue-eyed law student named Neil Burkinshaw, standing five feet five in his stockings, got his training in investigating.

Today as assistant U. S. district attorney, the same Burkinshaw is hailed as the discoverer that Burns detectives were "shadowing" Fall Sinclair conspiracy trial jurors. Upon his shoulders falls the task of winning grand jury indictments charging jury tampering, following the abrupt ending of the case in a mistrial yesterday.

Burkinshaw, just "Burk" to his many friends, is 31, married, animated in conversation and enthusiasm. Urged on by District Attorney Peyton Gordon and the government's special counsel, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomeroy, he has taken over complete charge of the grand jury investigation.

Active in Writing
In school at Georgetown university, he was active in writing short stories.

Graduated in 1917 he worked on newspapers and was employed for some time in Senator Walsh's office, when the Montana senator was leading the prosecution of the famous Teapot Dome inquiry of 1923-24.

No one can say just how many of his ideas and methods came from Senator Walsh, but friends say "there's where he got his ideas."

"Burk" wears spectacles and his dark face, together with his short stature, gives a first impression of almost callow youth. But his darting mind and rapid tongue soon corrects any such impression.

Development of the oil lands will necessitate a unique handling in that 40 per cent of the wells will be located in the Pacific ocean. Number 1 is on the high tide line. Breakwaters will be erected and other structures built to allow the oil men to tap the ocean's bed.

Six companies, operating under state permit, hold lands in the beach and ocean field. They are the Shell company, Associated Oil, California Petroleum, Midway Oil, General Petroleum and Pan-American.

A. J. Hobson, pioneer of Ventura, who attempted to develop the field 35 years ago, is owner of a large part of the land under lease and obtained the state permit for the discovery well.

BANDITS, SLEUTHS HURT IN GUN FIGHT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 3.—Two bandits and two detectives were wounded shortly before noon today in a gun battle which followed the kidnapping of a man the bandits believed was a jewelry salesman.

The kidnapped man, however, was Herbert Hix, a detective, acting as the bait in a police frameup to stop banditry. Hix had been going from one jewelry store to another carrying an empty sample case. He was followed by three city detectives.

When the bandits overtook Hix and forced him to enter their car at the point of guns, the three detectives opened fire. A hail of bullets followed and, as a result of the battle, two detectives and two bandits were wounded, none of them believed seriously.

REOPEN PROBE IN COWBOY'S DEATH

LAVE VIEW, Ore., Nov. 3.—The Lake county grand jury reconvened here today to take formal action on its investigation of the death of J. P. "Slim" Harris, rodeo performer, who was murdered more than two months ago.

Charles Combs, district attorney of Lake county, announced the grand jury would be asked to return a first degree murder indictment against Lorena Trickey Harris, cowgirl and wife of the slain man.

Harris' wife has been held in jail here since September 3 in connection with his death.

District Attorney Combs said the case will be brought to trial next Monday.

E. A. Friday, sheriff of Lake county, who has been aiding in the investigation, declared evidence would be brought at the trial that Lorena was the common law wife of Harris.

Harris died from a knife wound which his wife claimed was accidentally inflicted.

CHICAGO FOLK ARE AMUSED BY SCHOOL TRIAL

members, also occupied by Attorneys Richelmer and Sullivan for the prosecution; Burke and Shannon for the defense; and McAndrew himself, a genial, puffy-cheeked, full bearded man with a hint of Santa Claus, but no touch of the foreign spy of fiction about him.

There is, of course, (this is Chicago) a press table and a school board publicity man to make reporters comfortable. And behind a rail are seats for some 200 spectators, jammed with school teachers, parents, civic leaders and a few of those people whose business in life is to attend trials.

Franklin Schrader, of New York, editor of the Progressive, former editor of the Fatherland, former secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, was the chief witness.

Talks Hour and Half
Gray-haired, dignified, faintly Germanic and strongly senatorial, Schrader discoursed for an hour and a half on Longfellow's poetry, the injustice of the present immigration law, the need for a bigger navy and the extent of British propaganda in this country in 1900, during the world war and at the present time.

"I believe," the witness informed the court at the end of that time, "that I have about exhausted my subject."

Mrs. Josephine Didier, history teacher, testified she had been "subjected" by the board of examiners of the board of education to a history course at the University of Chicago, which she complained was unpatriotic. The course she explained, was recommended by the board.

The text, she said, was Schlesinger's "New Viewpoints on American History." The book, she said, was under consideration at the time—1926—as a text in Chicago elementary schools. In it, she said, Washington was referred to as a "rebel," the participants in the Boston Tea party as "vandals," the colonists as persons "needlessly excited" who "had no right to revolt."

Patriotism Not Taught
She said, in response to the questioner, that nothing that she would call patriotism was being taught in Chicago schools; that the children never sang patriotic songs; and that she did not believe many of the pupils could recite the "Star Spangled Banner."

The school board members looked unanimously shocked and just a little bit as if they thought somebody might ask them to recite the "Star Spangled Banner." But nobody did.

Proceedings grew warm in a discussion over when to hold the next session of the trial, which started more than a month ago. Finally it was postponed until Friday, when, since McAndrew already had specified he could not then be present, it will be postponed further until November 14.

The session of the trial—designed to decide whether McAndrew shall be restored or permanently suspended as superintendent of schools—then was adjourned.

LAMONT RETURNS FROM JAPAN VISIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Thomas W. Lamont, member of the international banking firm of J. P. Morgan and company, New York, arrived in San Francisco today aboard the President Pierce from Japan.

Lamont declined to discuss reports that the government of Japan might avail itself of the technical assistance of American experts, in private capacity, to aid in the solution of financial problems. He also refused to discuss possibility of a large loan to Japan by the Morgan company.

Lamont insisted his 40-day trip to Japan was for "pleasure only." He said that his observations led him to believe the Japanese nation was "very friendly" to the United States.

He would not discuss Japan's financial position or her efforts to reduce her budget.

PARIS CONTINUES ELDER RECEPTIONS

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Ruth Elder and Capt. George Haldeman today prepared for another round of social engagements, which included lunch at the American club and receptions in the senate, Hotel De Ville and Cercle France Americaine.

An official luncheon will be given them at the American embassy tomorrow and Saturday morning they depart for Cherbourg, whence they sail for New York on the Aquitania.

The co-pilots of the plane "American Girl," spent yesterday afternoon and evening in the presence of European royalty and cabinet society.

Prosecution Will Relate Story Of Watterson Crash

INDEPENDENCE, Calif., Nov. 3.—Details of what the prosecution contends is the true story of the financial crash that wrecked the five Inyo county banks will be related to the jury at the trial of W. W. and Mark Q. Watterson either late today or tomorrow.

Proceedings against the two brothers, charged with 34 counts of embezzlement, moved at a slow pace again today as the state continued its introduction as evidence, notes, checks and records in substantiation of the charge that the Wattersons converted $460,000 of the banks' funds to their own use.

"If our legislative program to drive the McNary-Haugen bill through congress," he said, "falls again at the White House, I believe there is a strong possibility that an out and out farm party will spring into being."

The delegates placed responsibility for the failure of the McNary-Haugen bill on "the party in power."

Temper of the St. Louis gathering was reflected in a resolution unanimously adopted yesterday. It contained a sweeping indictment of every outstanding foe of farm relief, from President Coolidge down.

Differences Aired By Borah, Lowden Backers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Underlying differences of opinion between the Borah-Norris midwestern congressional group and some backers of Frank O. Lowden, prospective candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, cropped out in the open today.

For some time there have been rumblings of dissension over the decision of the progressive congressional group to support Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, for the nomination, while some other midwesterners were for Lowden.

The situation came to a head with the announcement Monday of Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, that he intended to support Lowden. This was followed by resolutions passed by the conference of farm representatives now in St. Louis, warning against some congressmen and other authorities here.

Arranging Radio Hookup
The affair has reached such a stage that the independents here are arranging a radio hookup through which they intend to broadcast "educational" programs throughout the country.

First indications of a fight were given when Governor McMullen, Nebraska, wired Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, asking if Borah would quit Norris because they differed over the equalization fee system of farm relief. Borah replied he would remain behind Norris and accused McMullen of working for Lowden.

McMullen then went to the St. Louis meeting and made a speech criticizing Borah. Then the farm conference adopted a resolution assailing Borah.

The independents here have watched the St. Louis meeting with apprehension to see if it was not in reality a boom for Lowden.

Those who know Borah's position believe that if Lowden is brought into the field Borah may take the stump against him.

MRS. DENNY'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE FILED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—Reginald Denny, screen star, literally soared out of the life of his wife, according to the latter's suit for divorce, on record here today.

Not only did the actor neglect her, she charges, as he climbed the ladder to fame, but he also had a flying complex, which caused her to have a number of nervous breakdowns.

Mrs. Denny charged that the star carried on his aviation pursuits after the war, in which he was a flyer, and frequently took their 14-year-old daughter up in his plans.

A property settlement has been effected out of court, it was reported. The couple were married in Calcutta, India, in 1913.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The rigorous endeavor which you are making to march bravely on in the face of grief and loneliness will shame the mindless dilettantism, which passes for faith in the God of the ages, in the lives of many of your fellows.
In the past you tried to do your duty well, as you saw it, but it was comparatively easy because you had practically everything you craved. It takes a man to go on when the sun-added to the load and the sun-added to the load is dimmed, but you have the strength of God and because you believe in God and in His promises.

Hypnotism Used To Cure Drunks

LENINGRAD, Nov. 3.—Experiments in mass hypnotism to cure alcoholism are being made by Professor Bechterev, well known throughout Russia. Bechterev collects alcoholics in groups, gives them a brief lecture on the ill of drink and hypnotizes the entire group, which, he says, is easier than hypnotizing individuals.

When the patients are sufficiently under the hypnotic influence for a raised hand or foot to remain suspended in the air, Bechterev tells them total avoidance of liquor is a cure for alcoholism. When the patients awake Bechterev gives them autosuggestion phrases to be repeated to themselves several times daily for a month. At the end of this time, the professor says, apparently complete cures are exhibited by persons who had seemed to be incorrigible drunkards.

Rancher Finds Buried Treasure

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3.—Buried treasure valued at more than $250,000 was reported discovered at Pinotepa, State of Oaxaca, by Francisco Calderon, an Indian farmer. In the days of Mexico's fight for independence, from 1810 to 1821, the ancestors of Senor Calderon were important people in the community. The Calderon family was driven from the ranch by guerrillas, who held it from 1815 to 1820.

Among the marauders was a half-breed, remembered in local tradition as "El Solo"—the Lone Hand—a noted semi-robber, semi-guerrilla leader, so-called because he frequently went out alone hand and held up stagecoaches passing over the highways. "El Solo" was said to have collected immense treasure through robbing stages, plantations and churches, and buried his wealth in and about Pinotepa. Many searching parties in the last 100 years have sought "El Solo's" buried treasure, but none found it.

ATTORNEYS IN HOT BATTLE ON RANCH VALUES

Rival attorneys are today continuing a hotly contested argument before Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, which began last Tuesday in an attempt to establish the relative value of two pieces of Southern California property and has not yet succeeded in reaching a definite conclusion. A 10-acre ranch near Stanton and a Los Angeles house and lot on East Seventy-fifth street are involved in the affair, which began last January when the two pieces of property became involved in a trade.

Fraudulent representations have been charged by the defendants while the plaintiffs are contesting the charge and allege that trickery did not enter into the deal. They aver that the trade was entirely in the open and that the defendants have refused to complete the transfer, although the properties are declared to be of equal value.

The battle to prove the comparative value is being carried on by Franklin G. West, Santa Ana attorney, and Peter J. Barnicle, of Los Angeles. Objections are constantly raised, many of them being sustained, while the lawyers proceed with the attack from another angle.

J. B. Burrows and Mary T. Burrows, of Stanton, are said to have agreed to the trade for the Los Angeles lot but are refusing to permit the delivery of the title to the Stanton property. They aver that the ranch land is worth $10,000 and state that the Los Angeles property is worth only $4000.

The plaintiffs, Herman Capel and Ethel Capel, represented by West, alleged that the two pieces of land are worth $4500 each.

Sousa was swept from a raft while fishing for mussels, it was reported.

AUTOISTS HELP SELVES AS RUM CAR OVERTURNS

An overturned booze car, on the San Diego highway, near the Tus-tin union high school, yesterday afternoon attracted a large number of motorists who are said to have "helped themselves" to the contents of the car and walked away before officers arrived.

The police arrived in time, however, to arrest P. W. Sullivan, 32, 1223 Court street, Los Angeles, on a charge of possession of liquor and to confiscate 23 quarts of Mexican bonded bourbon whiskey, it was said. The arrest was made by Constable Jesse Elliott and State Officer V. Barnhill, who reported they found the liquor in an orange grove at the side of the road.

Sullivan was arrested when officers saw him emerge from the grove soon after they arrived. Sullivan told officers, they said, that he was given a ride from San Diego, in a machine with a man whose name he did not know, and that the liquor belonged to him. He said their machine was struck by another car from the rear and was overturned. The driver of the car which Sullivan said was responsible for the accident, did not stop to render aid.

A boy, who resides near the scene of the accident, reported that a large number of motorists stopped their cars and "helped themselves" to the liquor. "Some of them put more than one bottle in their pockets and walked away," the boy is said to have declared. Sullivan may be given a hearing on the possession charge before Justice Kenneth Morrison this afternoon.

BREA CANYON ROAD SOON TO BE MADE WIDE

Completion of preliminary plans for the proposed straightening and widening of the Brea canyon road will be announced within a month, Nat Neff, highway superintendent, said today, outlining the project as it has developed so far.

The new road will cut off 1600 feet of distance in a two mile stretch, he declared, explaining at the same time that this will mean a greater saving of time to the motorist than the figures indicate, for considerable time was lost in negotiating the many curves in the present road.

The grade which is now a five per cent climb, will be reduced to a two per cent rise, thus adding a further improvement for the motorist who wishes to make good time on this stretch.

Neff stated that he believes every main artery into Orange county should be made as convenient as possible and should be widened wherever necessary to accommodate the traffic that comes in from outside points. In accordance with this policy the Brea canyon road will be graded wide enough so that future expansion will be possible.

He anticipates no difficulty in obtaining the right-of-way which will be necessary for the project and said that the oil companies holding land in that region have assured him of their co-operation. The other holdings are large and a comparatively small number of property owners are concerned in the granting of the right-of-way, making the task of gaining it considerably easier, he declared.

SENIOR GIRLS AT POLY HIGH HEAR EDITOR

J. Frank Burke, editor of the Register addressed the senior girls of the high school on the subject of Journalism and feature writing. It was one of the addresses that is being delivered from time to time on vocational training.

Mr. Burke first spoke of the nature of newspaper work, telling of its various branches, the news, advertising and circulation. He spoke of the qualifications required in the news department particularly. He emphasized the ability to write but urged that accuracy and knowledge were of more value than cleverness.

In speaking of the preparation for the work of Journalism he said that like the ministry the greatest amount of knowledge and experience assured the highest degree of success. He said that the newspaper field should not be entered by short cuts. A complete college education if possible in which one had specialized on economics, sociology and law gave a fine foundation for the requirements of later work as a newspaper worker.

He said there always was room for the one who was thoroughly prepared and who was determined to make a success of it. This he said was true in spite of the fact that papers were merging and the actual number of places probably were fewer than heretofore. Mr. Burke said feature writing was usually better paid, but that an individual's value in writing syndicate matter depended upon his having first established a name for himself either as a writer or in some other field.

LOCAL PLAYERS MEET TONIGHT AT "THE BARN"

When Santa Ana Community Players meet tonight at The Barn for their November business and entertainment program, it will be as a formally organized body under the new charter, with Arthur E. Collins as president.

Collins has been acting president of the Players for some months, but was elected to the position at the meeting of the board of directors held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cummings on East Walnut street near Orange.

At the same time, Major M. Burr Wellington was chosen as vice-president; Miss Norma Wingood as secretary, and Roland Dye as business manager.

Several important bylaws to the constitution were adopted, and will be presented to the members at the meeting in The Barn. Since a director has not yet been chosen, it was decided to add to all plans to open the Players' season before the holidays, but give two plays and hold a second tournament in the early months of the year.

RINGS ARE STOLEN FROM HOME IN CITY

Two finger rings, valued at $100 and a savings bank containing $7.50 in cash, were stolen from the home of Mrs. May S. Wright, 1252 South Van Ness street, yesterday, according to a report filed with the city police today.

Entrance into the house was made with the use of a pass key on the front door while members of the family were away from home, it was said. The burglary was discovered today when Mrs. Wright returned from a visit.

One of the rings was a pink enamel outlined with 25 small pearls. The other was a black onyx ring, valued at $25.

FATHERS AND SONS BANQUET TOMORROW

Inclement weather of the past few days and anticipation of similar weather at the time of the meeting was assigned today by Ralph Smedley, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., for the fact that only 500 reservations have been made for the barbecue dinner to be given by the organization at the fair grounds tomorrow evening.

Last year approximately 1000 men and boys were present at the annual dinner for fathers and sons of the county.

An excellent program of entertainment has been arranged for tomorrow evening, and the fact that the attendance will be less than on the previous occasion of the county gathering will have no influence on the spirit of tomorrow night's program, Smedley said.

LITTLE CHILD IS KILLED BY AUTO AT BEACH

One little girl was instantly killed, and another, her companion, lies at the point of death in the Santa Ana Valley hospital as the result of an automobile accident at Huntington Beach at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Betty May Rousey, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rousey, 511 Ninth street, Huntington Beach, and her little playmate, Dorothy Pearce, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Pearce, 510 Ninth street, were walking in the street, unattended, at the time of the accident.

Suddenly a car approached and before either could get out of the way, or perhaps before either saw it, they were struck and knocked to the pavement. The driver of the car, R. O. McIntosh, Huntington Beach electrician, stopped as quickly as he could to render aid. The little Rousey girl was dead. Her head was crushed. Life still lingered in Dorothy's body, however, and she was rushed to the Huntington Beach emergency hospital, where first aid treatment was given. Then she was brought to Santa Ana.

Today, hospital attendants said her condition was critical, but that she was resting "as well as could be expected." No skull fracture was found after an investigation, although the child is unconscious.

The accident occurred just in front of the homes of the children. McIntosh is not being held by officers who arrived at the scene soon afterward but will be called as a witness before the coroner's jury. The inquest will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow at the Dixon funeral parlors at Huntington Beach, where the body of Betty May was taken.

BOY SCOUTS WILL RALLY ON SATURDAY

Boy Scouts of Orange county are looking forward with keen interest to the annual Halloween party and county rally at Orange County park Saturday according to Roland E. Dye, scout executive. The program will start at 8:30 p. m., with a picnic supper for scouts and their parents, and the treasure hunt will start at 7:30 o'clock. In the hunt the boys will have the opportunity to put into practice their ability at tracking and observation.

The pumpkin rush will follow, and the evening will be brought to a close by the presentation of star, life and eagle badges to boys of the county who have merited the awards by their activities in scout work.

Dye today reminded scoutmasters that they are to participate in a round table meeting in the afternoon and a nature-study hike to be led by Raymond A. Campbell, of Santa Ana, who is said to be an authority on bird study.

HELP FOR SICK WOMEN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Restored the Health of Thousands

Brooklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 228 Schaeffer St., was in a dire run-down condition and could not do her housework. She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got relief." Mrs. Hegmann also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation, with good results. She says, "I am recommending your medicines to all I know who have symptoms the same as mine, and to others whom I think it will help. You may use my statement as a testimonial, and I will answer any letters sent to me by women who would like information regarding your medicines."

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

CLEAN UP BODY GETS BUSY ON CHEST PLEDGES

A small group of men today were working in an effort to secure pledges to the community chest to take up the $5000 guaranteed by 50 men of Santa Ana for completion of the total needed in the recent drive to validate pledges and subscriptions made. It was announced today by W. H. Spurgeon, president of the chest.

At the same time the president made an appeal for more workers, and pointed out that the 50 men who made the financial pledge should not be left "holding the sack." He emphasized the point that the guarantors were men who had contributed liberally and who had given much of their time to solicitation.

The clean-up drive was started following a meeting of the group yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., when it was learned that a check had been completed on a list of persons who had given to the fund last year but who had not made contributions this year.

"We need the help of more men on specific cards we have in hand," Spurgeon said, and then he added that those who will help in the work may find cards at the headquarters of the Boy Scouts on North Sycamore street.

"I am satisfied that no fair-minded man will be content to let the group of guarantors carry the burden that he should assume," the president said, in commenting on the possibility of there being many persons in Santa Ana who will contribute if they are solicited. The president also announced that contributions totaling $1000 had been received since the campaign closed, but it was stated by the head of the organization that the sum was anticipated from persons and corporations whom it was known would make contributions, but who had not gotten around to the point when the drive closed.

Mrs. N. H. Hilton, who is chairman of the women's division of the drive, expects to call a group of women workers together in a few days to organize for further work in behalf of the chest.

Present at the conference yesterday were Spurgeon, O. H. Barr, J. P. Baumgartner, F. W. Wieseman, George Dutton, Alex. Brownridge, W. B. Telford, S. H. Finley, C. H. Van Antwerp, John Knox, T. E. Stephenson, Ed McFadden, Sam Hurwitz, Walter Vandermast and Walter Spicer.

SANTA ANA NO LONGER MECCA FOR MARRIAGES

That Santa Ana no longer is on the main line traveled by Southern California couples in search of marriage licenses was indicated today when J. M. Backs, county clerk, released figures showing that 268 licenses were issued in October of this year, while October, 1926, chalked up a record of 418.

In fact the former Gretna Green here seems to be distinctly on a sidetrack, for Backs pointed out that the local bureau has not recovered from the shock of the new law requiring a three days' notice before the license is granted.

Yuma, Arizona, promises to become the new mecca for amorous couples and the new Rochester three-day notice law is held responsible for the shift. "Couples who want a license immediately are going over the line to Yuma," Backs declared. While Yuma is rapidly gaining new prominence as a marriage mart, El Centro, Santa Ana's former companion as a Gretna Green, is declining with equal speed. During October licenses issued in Imperial county totaled but 14 in contrast to a monthly average of 50 before the new law went into effect.

THREE SEEKING PROBATION TO GO INTO COURT

Albert Quintana is to have a hearing on his probation request following his conviction of escaping an officer. Gabriel Gutierrez will be arraigned on the same charge.

Walter A. Johnson is scheduled to learn the fate of his proba-

NOVEMBER 4, 1927

Married men will find it rough going today if they attempt to put anything over on their helpmates. The stars are inclined to be spiteful. Saturn stepped out last night with a young star, lost one of his rings, and Venus is glowing with indignation today. This celestial hang-over may be offset to a large degree by the purchase of a new gas heater with the solid radiant front which this store is introducing to Santa Ana.

No fooling, they are not only practical, economical, but the colored fronts are ornamental, very smart. Priced at $10 to $20.

Surprise Shower Held As Compliment to December Bride

When Miss Dorothea McCune dropped in at the home of the Misses Gertrude and Henrietta Scheffer on Orange avenue, Tuesday evening, expecting to practice musical numbers with the talented sisters, she was completely unprepared for the delightful surprise which awaited her.

For the hostesses had assembled a group of her closest friends to greet her and shower her with gifts upon her in honor of her engagement and approaching wedding to Leslie Hall of Long Beach. The evening was a merry one, with many musical numbers to add to the enjoyment, for the Misses Scheffer are known all over the Southland as talented radio singers, and Miss McCune as their accompanist. A unique feature of the program was a "strong man" act, prepared by Miss Evelyn Sherrill and Miss Doris Jones.

Late in the evening, refreshments were served to the accompaniment of dainty appointments. Miss McCune was presented with an array of beautiful linens to add to the bridal chest which she is filling in anticipation of her wedding on Christmas day. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCune, 2002 South Van Ness avenue.

Enjoying the evening with the Misses Scheffer and their honoree were Miss Ruth Shields, Miss Minerva Carpenter, Miss Zeta Mae Vance, Miss Evelyn Sherrill, Miss Doris Jones, Mrs. William Penrose, (Florence Erickson), Mrs. Ralph McCune and Mrs. John Scheffer.

Santa Ana Will Wed Society Editor on Fullerton Paper

As a compliment to their son, Frederick Kahan, and his charming fiancée, Miss Lillian Trowbridge of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kahan of 917 Kilson Drive, entertained last night at bridge and dancing as the first formal recognition of the betrothal which has been a fascinating "open secret" to their friends.

Mrs. Kahan used many chrysanthemums in making her home an attractive spot in which to entertain, and late in the evening, served a buffet supper for which the dining-room was made a very bower of blossoms.

Prizes in bridge were secured by Miss Eugenie Shanks and Dr. Ulrich Schlosser, and to Miss Trowbridge and Mr. Kahan was presented a complete dinner service in a handsome pattern of china, the gift of the hosts to their son and his bride-elect.

Miss Trowbridge is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Trowbridge of East Wiltshire avenue, Fullerton, and is society editor on the Fullerton Daily News Tribune. Mr. Kahan's father, Eugene Kahan, is proprietor of the Sample Shop, 413 North Sycamore street.

Guests who last night enjoyed the party complimenting the young people, were Mr. and Mrs. Cas Reine, Messrs. John Barry, Ira Hunter and Joe Davis, Los Angeles; Miss Mabel Mitchell and Fred Krestie, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kraemer, Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mason, Brea; Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Bernard, Mrs. Eva Trowbridge, Miss Marian Trowbridge, Miss Eugenie Shanks, Dr. Ulrich Schlosser and Billy Stedman, Fullerton; Mrs. Emma Hecker, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Comfort and Messrs. Adolph Hecker and Frank Was, Santa Ana.

Miss Agnes Gisler Is Bride at Beautiful Home Wedding

At the evening hour of 8 o'clock, on Monday, October 31, Miss Agnes Gisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gisler, became the lovely bride of Robert Marshall of Huntington Beach, in an impressively conducted ceremony at the home of her parents southwest of the city. The date was chosen because it marked the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gisler.

An improvised altar, banked with greenery, had at either side, tall baskets of pink gladioli tied with orchid ribbons. A snowy wedding bell suspended directly above the altar, was showered with pink and white ribbons above the young people who took their vows before the Rev. Father Nugent.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Edward McGuckin sang "At Dawning" by Cadman, and the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin signalled the approach of the wedding party. Miss Gisler's brunette charm was emphasized by her gown of white chiffon velvet with rhinestones. Her veil was held to her head by a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bridal bouquet (later caught by Miss Orla Reno) was of white roses and maidenhair fern.

Miss Lucille Gisler as honor maid, wore pink chiffon velvet and rhinestones, and carried pink and orchid sweet peas. Harry Gorman of Huntington Beach, assisted Mr. Marshall as best man.

After refreshments, when the bride cut the snowy wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for a northern honeymoon, the latter traveling in a coons brown satin with harmonizing cloak, hat and footwear. Upon their return, they will make their home in Huntington Beach where Mr. Marshall is connected with the Oakland-Pontiac agency.

Thirteen little maids made merry Monday night when they gathered at the Joseph Steele home at 1318 West Fourth street to celebrate All Saints' eve in fitting fashion, with the little Misses Marie and Naomi Steele as hostesses.

Guests, who arrived in costume, were met at the door of the Steele residence by a ghost who gave each one a clammy hand in greeting. They were then conducted into the living rooms where appropriate decorations were to be seen.

Hallowe'en games included bobbing for apples and pinning the eye on a pumpkin. Prizes were won by Katherine Fitzpatrick and Melva Thorpe. Another feature of the evening was the telling of fortunes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Steele who was assisted by her two little daughters.

Complimenting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker, on their 42nd wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ralph Barker presided recently at a beautifully appointed dinner in their home, 1117 Bush street.

The hostess chose decorations which symbolized the Hallowe'en season, at the same time being particularly appropriate to the wedding celebration, for great golden chrysanthemums were used throughout the house, and the dinner table was centered with an artistic basket of the golden beauties, sent by the Past Matrons' association of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., of which the senior Mrs. Barker is a member.

In serving dinner, Mrs. Ralph Barker had the assistance of the Misses Madeline and Katharine Barker of Claremont. The after-dinner hours were devoted to cards and the prize was a collection of beautiful gifts presented to Mrs. W. D. Barker, who was celebrating her birthday as well as her wedding anniversary. A pleasant feature was a telegram of congratulations from Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Barker of Sacramento, to their father and mother.

Ebell Society

Household Economics Members of Ebell's fifth household economics section had a delightful experience yesterday when they had as special guest, Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, who entertained them in the after-luncheon period, with a spirited account of her travels of last spring when she and Mr. Nau voyaged to the South Sea Islands and the antipodes, and returned to Orange county by way of Africa and South America.

So interesting was Mrs. Nau, and so thoroughly delightful her collection of souvenirs of the various lands visited, that the section members lost all interest in the bridge contest that usually follows their business meetings, and urged her to continue her talk throughout the afternoon.

Three other guests shared the event with the section, Mrs. James Skegg, mother of Mrs. Glenn Warner, a section member, Mrs. C. Weise of Tustin and Mrs. Grace Sellars.

At the business session conducted by Mrs. Hugh Plumb, leader, at the luncheon hour, a Christmas party for section husbands was planned. It will be held near the holidays and the annual gift exchange will follow the dinner hour.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

All Day Gathering

Preceding the afternoon meeting of the First Presbyterian Missionary society yesterday, was a morning industrial session of the Ladies' Aid society members, with comfort-tying as part of the program. At mid-day a Thanksgiving luncheon was served by a committee composed of Mesdames D. P. McBurney, Eleanor Fish, Roy Skiles and Miss Helen Thompson. Chrysanthemums decked the tables.

In the absence of the missionary society president, Mrs. W. H. McPeak, the afternoon session was conducted by Mrs. W. H. Herring. Miss Rosaline Kellogg led the devotionals, and the program was directed by Mrs. O. S. Johnson, in the absence of Mrs. M. M. Tibball, program chairman.

"Education-Evangelism" was the subject, and Mrs. Johnson read an interesting article. A discussion followed on Muskingum, Monmouth, and Sterling colleges, and Miss Adda Cowan talked on "Our Mission Colleges." Report of the Presbyterian rally held recently in Los Angeles, were given by delegates and the prayer cycle was conducted by Miss Kellogg.

The nominating committee presented the names selected for next year's officers and they were elected as follows: Mrs. W. H. McPeak, president; Mrs. W. H. Herring, vice-president; Mrs. C. F. Millen, secretary and Mrs. J. T. Raitt, treasurer.

Kostume Carnival
Y. L. I. members felt that their "Kostume Carnival" was one of the outstanding events of the Hallowe'en season, and were assured of the enjoyment of the patrons who arrived in colorful costumes, to take part in the event at K. C. hall.

Miss Nettie Jones in peasant dress and Urban Engelman as His Satanic Majesty, took the prizes for the best disguises. The most original were judged to be Miss B. Connolly as an aristocratic old lady, and Andrew Carroll as Spanish cavalier. Miss Lydia Strain and Clyde Ashen in colored make-ups, were declared the funniest, while consolation prizes were presented to J. C. Murphy as a convict and Stella Engelman as a gypsy.

Because of the bad weather, and the few tickets turned in, the dinner ring was not given away but will be awarded at a drawing to be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Knights of Columbus hall.

L. A. MAN HELD FOR ESCAPING PEACE OFFICER

James M. Lipe, 26, Los Angeles, charged with escaping an officer, was held to answer to the superior court at the conclusion of his examining trial in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning. Bail was fixed at $500.

Lipe is accused of escaping from the county park on March 28, while he was a prisoner in the county jail, serving a long term on a liquor charge from Anaheim. He was arrested several days ago in Ogden, Utah, and extradited from that state by the sheriff's office.

Attorney Dave Wettlin, counsel for the defense attempted to make C. R. Pride, deputy sheriff from whom Lipe is charged with escaping, admit that he had told the prisoner that if he left he would not be searched for, but the officer denied it.

PEACE OFFICERS OF COUNTY HOLD MEET

Bringing details of the Los Angeles police department's war on organized crime, Inspector John Finlison addressed members of the Orange County Peace Officers' association at the American Legion hut at Newport Beach last night.

Other speakers included Sheriff Sam Jernigan, and Mayor Charles Boster, of Huntington Beach. Jesse Elliott was in charge of the meeting.

At the invitation of Mayor Boster, the officers voted to hold their next session at Huntington Beach.

Hunter Is Fined $50 By Justice

It was a deer hunt that Walter M. Freer, El Monte, staged in Bell Canyon, Orange county on October 2.

Freer was fined $50 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today for hunting in a game reserve.

According to the testimony in the case, as offered by W. E. Adkinson, game warden, Freer was hunting deer near the old Joplin ranch, in Bell Canyon, when he arrested him.

The fine was paid.

ARLINGTON MAN FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Charles F. Moore, 37, Arlington man, was fatally injured at 7 o'clock last night, when the automobile in which he was riding, overturned after a collision, at Seventeenth street and Orange avenue, Costa Mesa. He died early this morning in the Newport Beach hospital from a basal fracture of the skull.

Moore was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jones, Newport Beach, when the machine collided with a car driven by Jess L. Ainsworth, Costa Mesa, and overturned. Moore was thrown clear of the car, falling on his head.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were cut and bruised, but their condition is not serious. They were given treatment at the Newport Beach hospital. Ainsworth and Dr. V. A. Rossiter, Santa Ana dentist, who was a passenger in the Ainsworth machine, escaped injury.

The Ainsworth car was traveling south on Orange avenue and the Jones machine was headed west on Seventeenth street. The cars met at the intersection.

The body of Moore was brought to the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors here this morning where an inquest will be held by coroner Charles D. Brown at 10 a. m., Saturday.

Moore is survived by his widow, who is reported ill at her home in Arlington. Moore had been working at Newport Beach for several weeks and was living with the Jones family.

S. A. TOLL OPERATORS VICTORS IN CONTEST

For the first time since the institution of an "efficiency and courtesy" contest in the Pacific telephone and telegraph company, Santa Ana long distance operators have finished the month victorious. As a result they have been awarded a silver trophy cup which they may keep until next month's decisions have been made.

In previous months the cup has been won by Pacific long distance operators in Los Angeles, Covina, Santa Monica, and San Bernardino.

Some time ago long distance operators in the U. S. telephone and telegraph company won a cup in a similar contest being conducted by officials of that company.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Secret of offensive drill featured the Michigan football practice today. Thirty-eight Wolverine players will leave here Friday for Chicago, where they meet Stagg's Maroons Saturday.

MINNEAPOLIS—Harold Barnhart has failed to recover from injuries and the possibility that Donald Riddell may start in the Minnesota backfield against Notre Dame Saturday was increased. Riddell is a good punter.

WEST POINT—Anderson, Army substitute end, was in the hospital today with mumps. He will be lost to the team probably for the rest of the season. The first heavy workout of the week was held yesterday.

OAKLAND—A wholesale respect for the invading Idaho Vandals is held by the St. Mary's varsity and Coach "Skip" Madigan is scrimmaging his charges harder than usual in preparation for Saturday's game at San Francisco.

SEATTLE—The University of Washington Huskies were to go through a last strenuous workout and then rest until 2 o'clock Saturday when they meet Stanford. Betting favors Stanford with little Washington money in sight.

BEACH MAYOR GETS HEARING HERE FRIDAY

R. E. Dolley, mayor of Seal Beach, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, surrendered himself to Justice Kenneth Morrison here at 5 o'clock last night after learning that a complaint had been issued against him.

Morrison released him on his own recognizance and ordered his preliminary examination for 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Dolley is charged with assaulting E. W. Reed, Seal Beach deputy sheriff with a hatchet at the time Reed attempted to serve him with a writ of mandate from the Orange county superior court.

The court order forces Dolley to announce a re-call election at Seal Beach which would place his name on the ballot for recall. Teh officer charges that Dolley tried to dodge service and assaulted him with a hatchet when he attempted to serve the papers at Dolley's home.

SCHOOL TEACHERS TO HEAR ADDRESS

Dr. Gordon Watkins, faculty member at the University of California at Los Angeles, will address Santa Ana school teachers Wednesday afternoon, November 16, 4 o'clock, at the Santa Ana high school. His subject will be "Adult Education and the Problem of American Democracy," according to D. K. Hammond, principal at the Santa Ana high school.

Hammond stated that this would be an institute number. He said that Dr. Watkins made one of the outstanding addresses at the recent school superintendents' convention in San Diego.

Burns Out Bees —Destroys Home

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 4.—Oleon Milton chose a rather expensive way of ridding his house of yellow jackets. He and members of his family had been annoyed for some time by a nest of the insects that had made their home under the house and had practically taken possession of the house. Members of the family at different times were severely bitten, and Milton decided to put them out of the way. He sought to destroy them by burning their nest.

It worked fine and the bees got away, but the next morning Milton awoke to find his house afire. The flames had made such progress by the time they were discovered that Milton and his neighbors were unable to save the house, which burned to the ground, so now Milton is rid of his bees and also his home.

S. A. STUDENTS TRANSFER TO OXY COLLEGE

Out of 47 transfers to Occidental College from other institutions this year five students entered the college from Santa Ana Junior College. Outside of Pasadena Junior College, with nine transferring to Occidental, Santa Ana Junior College ranks second in number of students transferring from a single institution.

Those entering the Junior class from S. A. J. C. are Miss Kate P. Benton, Miss Helen Fleisher, Miss Mary L. Grisee, and Miss Frances Knudsen, Ralph Rozelle, graduate of Compton high school, entered the freshman class, from S. A. J. C. Fullerton Junior College is represented in Miss Marjorie Pibel, a graduate of Anaheim high school.

"The majority of all transfers to Occidental from other institutions enter the Junior class thus showing that there is a tendency for many to remain in Junior colleges for the first two years. These figures also show that Occidental is drawing a substantial portion of its upper division classes from junior college graduates, itself a recognition of the fine character of advanced work being offered at Occidental College," states Dr. Arthur G. Coons, executive secretary, in making this announcement.

HAGEN, ARMOUR TANGLE IN PRO GOLF FEATURE

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 3.—By a strange trick in the pairings, two of America's greatest golfers were matched today in the quarter final round of the Professional Golfers' association championship—a match fully deserving a final round.

Walter Hagen, some times known as the "champion of champions," and Tommy Armour, American Open champion, were to battle their way over a 36-hole course for the right to enter the semi-finals tomorrow.

Three other matches on today's program brought together: Gene Sarazen vs. Joe Turnesa; Mort Dutra vs. Al Espinosa, and John Golden vs. Francis Gallett.

Hagen had an easy day Wednesday, skidding through to victory over Tony Manero of New York 11 to 10. Armour entered the quarter-final round by defeating Tom Harmon of Yonkers, N. Y., 7 and 6.

Sarazen, who has played erratic golf since the time he won the open crown back in 1923, eliminated Ed Dudley, of Los Angeles, 4 and 3. Turnesa defeated Willie Klein, one up.

Johnny Golden had the closest call of yesterday's round, winning from Harold Long of Raleigh, N. C., by a birdie three on the 27th.

Espinosa sprang perhaps the biggest surprise of the day by vanquishing Harry Cooper of Los Angeles, 5 and 4. Espinosa played carefully on every hole while Cooper was missing them badly.

Jubilee Diamond To Be Sold Soon

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Diamond and precious stone dealers are agog with interest at the news of the forthcoming sale of the Jubilee diamond, said to be the loveliest and third largest stone in the world.

The jubilee is oval shape and was found in the Jagersfontein mine 32 years ago. It weighed 640 carats before and 230 carats after cutting. It is owned by an English and Indian syndicate headed by Sir D. Tata, the Parsee millionaire. It is reported that a quarter of a million pounds sterling is being asked for the gem.

SERVICES HELD ON WEDNESDAY FOR MRS. ROTE

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Wimbler Mission Funeral Home for Mrs. Anna Belle Rote, 74, who died here on October 31.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Hugh McNinch, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who was a pupil of Mrs. Rote when she was a teacher in a community near Paw Paw, Ill.

Mrs. Harry Blee, of Los Angeles, a niece, sang two numbers, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "I Heard the Voice of Jesus," accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Mrs. Rote was a sister of J. W. Blee, pioneer of this city, who died last November from injuries received in an automobile accident at Buena Park in October, in which his wife was instantly killed. Mrs. Rote was in the car with Mr. and Mrs. Blee and received injuries which, it is believed by relatives, hastened her death. She also was a sister of the late W. C. Blee.

Among relatives here to attend the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blee, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Ida Blee and her son, Robert Blee, of Puente.

LAGUNA BEACH SCHOOL PLANS TO BE CHANGED

Trustees of the Laguna Beach school district are calling on Architect Fay R. Spangler, of Santa Ana, to revise plans and specifications for the proposed new school building, so that bids may come within the funds available. Twice bids have been submitted and have had to be thrown out because the totals exceeded the appropriation.

In the letter of instructions to the architect, the trustees ask that plans and specifications be drawn for a third set of bids so as to permit certain changes. First of these is that bids be made on the building complete, without tower, including the necessary retaining walls, but leaving the interior of the auditorium unfinished. In asking for this bid, the auditorium is to be reduced approximately five feet, and will call for wood lath throughout the building. The call is also to include construction permitting the use of electric fans for ventilation when the building is completed.

Floors will be changed to call for the best two compositions. Alternate bids will be asked stating the amount to be deducted from the total if the auditorium is eliminated. Bidders will also be asked to submit a figure of reduction if retaining walls are eliminated.

Wesix electric heaters are to be specified throughout, and no bids on other heating equipment will be considered. All bids on heating will be by the unit.

Sterling plate blackboards only are to be stipulated. Universal window hardware will be specified throughout, windows to be of wooden sash in conformity with Donovan specifications. Painting will require bids on the use of calomine for ceilings. Hot-water heaters are to be specified. Cast stone work will be eliminated as much as possible.

Other changes are expected to be made by the architect in an effort to bring construction costs down to the point where the $105,000 available for construction will cover costs and make it possible for contractors to bring their bids

ALL BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

With the possible exception of cafes, drug stores and kindred establishments, every business house in Orange county will be closed all day on November 11, in observance of Armistice Day and in order that employees may join in the celebration in Fullerton.

Piles Are Absorbed Never to Return

This New Treatment Gives Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by C. S. Kelley and All Good Druggists.

Perhaps the most amazing discovery of recent years in the field of medicine is the discovery that Piles or Hemorrhoids can now be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful substance to which the name of MOAVA has been given.

For years it had been known that many so called remedies were simply palliative and gave only temporary relief, while surgical operations, often adopted as a last resource, did not remove the cause, but simply the formation.

In no wise acting on the source of the trouble. The discoverers of MOAVA justly proud of their amazing discovery, desire all sufferers to know they do not want a cent of anyone's money unless MOAVA, which comes in the form of suppositories, decisively conquers even in the worst cases, and they have instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

Each little suppository, containing a certain definite amount of MOAVA, reaches the exact place where by its soothing, healing action it first allays all inflammation, congestion and soreness; then being in direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to be absorbed and vanish forever. In two or three days at most, even in cases of profuse bleeding, that have resisted all known treatments, really wonderful results have been accomplished.—Adv.

COMPLETE BIG MONOPLANE IN THREE WEEKS

Three weeks will see the completion of the big monoplane now under construction by the Zenith Aircraft corporation at Midway City. It was announced today by Charles F. Rocheville, who with A. K. Peterson, designed the big ship.

The plane is one of the largest ever built in this country, having a wing span of 90 feet and a fuselage length of 50 feet. It will have a cruising time of 70 hours and a flying range of 6500 miles, according to the designers.

Three Siemens-Halske motors have arrived at Midway City and are now being installed in the plane. The gasoline capacity is 1300 gallons, 420 of which will be stored in tanks in the wings, with the rest in the fuselage.

Placing of gasoline tanks in the wings constitutes a new feature. The wings are designed with unusual thickness to care for the tanks. The plane will carry a crew of four men.

Rocheville and Peterson are former navy aviators. Rocheville has designed five successful planes. According to the designers, the company will start manufacturing a number of smaller planes after the big monoplane is completed.

It is probable that the plane will be used in a proposed trans-Pacific flight, according to Peterson.

OPEN SCHOOL FOR U. S. DRY AGENTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Secretary Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Dr. J. M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition, have a new plan to enforce the Volstead act. They have opened a school here for dry agents and each district, presided over by an administrator, will be asked to send an apt pupil to the institution. Harry Dengler, an investigator for the prohibition bureau, is dean. The course will last a month.

The dry agents are taught the significance of search warrants, the way to use them, how to make arrests and seizure and collect evidence. This will be done through a series of lectures given by Dr. Doran and other experts in the bureau. Upon returning to their districts the pupils will teach the agents in the field what they have learned.

Native Daughters of the Golden West will hold a cooked food sale on Saturday, Nov. 5, at Anderson's Grocery, also a rummage sale at 308 E. 4th St. Anyone having donations call 474-M for rummage sale or 1103 for food sale.—(Adv.)

SECOND AND MAIN CORNER IS ACQUIRED FOR $65,000; BUSINESS BLOCK PROJECTED

A building program to start immediately after the first of the year was the incentive for the purchase this week by W. B. Williams, A. W. Rutan and Otto Haan of the northwest corner of Main and Second streets at a reported consideration of $65,000.

According to a statement by Haan, the new owners expect to develop and execute a business building program at the earliest date possible, and January 1 was named as about the earliest date that the owners could expect to complete their plans for starting the improvement on the valuable corner.

Haan, local automobile dealer, was definite in his statement that the new structure would not be for garage purposes. He was not in position to say whether the new building would be one, two, three or more stories in height.

The property has a frontage of 100 feet on North Main street and depth of 125 feet along Second. Haan was a part owner of the corner, having been associated in ownership with the late W. H. Hahn, of Pasadena. The Hahn interest was purchased from Mrs. Hahn and in the adjustment Haan took an equal interest with Williams and Rutan.

The corner now is the location of an oil station and the used car market of the Cadillac Garage company. It was purchased seven years ago by Haan and Hahn for approximately $30,000.

PLEA TO HAVE MARRIAGE SET ASIDE IS LOST

Superior Judge James L. Allen had today refused to order any legal change in the marital relations of Mrs. Bernice B. Davis and Seth A. Davis, of Lemon Heights, following the request of Mrs. Davis that their marriage be declared void because she has a previous husband still living.

Mrs. Davis, in her complaint, alleged that the former marriage was still in force. It developed yesterday at the hearing that she had secured an interlocutory decree of divorce in 1920 from her former husband, A. R. Dunham. It was further revealed that, although Mrs. Davis did not realize its necessity, a final decree had been issued in 1921.

Judge Allen left the couple in status quo. Inasmuch as their wedding occurred in 1920, at Portland, Oregon, before the final decree was granted, the marriage is believed to have been void from the start.

Davis appeared in court to contest the proceedings but after the case was concluded, Mrs. Davis shook hands with him. "Thank you," she said.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED FOR PHONE SYSTEM

Installation of additional telephone cable in the northwestern section of Costa Mesa has started, according to E. S. Morrow, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. The cable is being installed to care for growth in the district. Over 3,000,000 feet of telephone wire, contained in more than 15,000 feet of cable, is being installed at an approximate cost of $12,000.

Installation of additional central office equipment at San Juan Capistrano is scheduled for completion by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company in the near future, according to Morrow. The project was made necessary by rapid growth in telephone traffic. At the time of the opening of the office on July 30, 1927, it was serving 63 telephones. The new equipment will provide for serving 120 telephones.

Installation of additional central office telephone equipment in the Fullerton central office is scheduled for service November 15, Morrow announced. The installation is designed to care for recent growth in Fullerton.

Shirt Stud Lost For 10 Months Is Back In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—A shirt stud that eluded its owner while he was dressing for dinner in a London hotel last January came back to him in Chicago after 10 months' correspondence, identification processes and proofs of ownership.

Colonel Walter J. Kiley, Chicago, president of four banks, was forced to abandon his January search because he was booked to sail for South Africa the day after the disappearance. He forgot the incident. Upon his return home he found his desk piled high with mail from London, each letter containing news of the stud. Complying with all of the identification requirements, he awaited developments. Today the stud came again into possession of its owner after the colonel's emissary to the customs office had convinced officials of the colonel's identity.

School Bond Election On November 8

Voters of the Katella district will decide next Tuesday whether they wish to expend $25,000 for the purchase of two acres of land and the improvement of the present school.

The school has an enrollment of 131 pupils at the present time, this being a big increase over last year's enrollment. The school has four rooms at present.

If the money is voted, it will be spent as follows: Two acres of additional land, $6000; addition of two rooms, $14,000; modernizing of water system, $1500; home for caretaker, $3000.

Sentiment in the district is said to favor the proposed improvements.

MOVIE TROOPS CAN EXECUTE SEVEN DRILLS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 2.—If there should be another world war tomorrow the doughboys drawn from Hollywood would astonish the military experts.

Many of the American service men working in the pictures can drill in seven languages. They are as much at home doing the goose-step as if they were born on the Rhine, and when a producer wants a crack company of British infantrymen he orders a crowd of the boys who went over with Pershing.

About 6000 former soldiers are registered with the Central Employment Bureau for Veterans, which works in close cooperation with the central casting bureau—several thousand more than is needed; so those who are ambitious and want to work in pictures regularly learn the manual of arms and squad and company formations of many armies as possible.

Do French Drill

During a wait between scenes on location one finds a company of "Austrians" taking their ease while the director thinks.

"Wiaddya say we have a little French drill?" suggests someone, and the make-believe boys from Vienna forget their Austrian uniforms and snap into the French manual of arms. If that goes smoothly they may try a little goose-stepping or, at the request of a new man who wants it, the British manual of arms.

Men who work together on the same picture for several weeks frequently are able to develop a proficiency in one of the foreign manual of arms that sets them apart from other extras as a drill team worthy of special consideration.

Many veterans registered with the bureau actually served with an allied army. One of the oldest veterans saw service with the French army in the war of 1871.

Trap imposters

Ross Lopez, manager of the veterans' employment bureau has a quick way of disposing of imposters when he is collecting a company or a battalion of soldiers needed in some war picture. He keeps a rifle in the corner of his office: not to shoot those who would bluff their way into jobs, but to try them out on the manual of arms.

"So you were in the army, were you?" he asks the applicant. "All right, pick up that gun over there in the corner. Now! Right shoulder arms! Left shoulder arms!"

Left shoulder arms is too much for the average four-flusher. He comes up with an extra hand dangling on the wrong side of the gun and a sheepish look that lets him out of the "army" for that day.

DEALS TOTALING $250,000 ARE CONSUMMATED

Realty deals aggregating $250,000 have been closed in the past few weeks by Ray Goodell, Santa Ana realtor, the majority of the transactions involving citrus groves.

A 10-acre valencia grove located on Collins avenue near Tustin avenue, in the Orange district, was acquired by Clarence Waller, of Collins avenue. A modern eight-room residence is on the property.

Twenty-six acres, partially improved, located east of Garden Grove, on Ocean avenue, were sold to George Spencer, of Halladay street, Santa Ana, and his son, Floyd G. Spencer, of South Broadway, Santa Ana, by Mrs. E. E. Spencer. A house and lot in Santa Ana was involved in the transaction.

Ten acres of citrus land southwest of Villa Park was acquired by C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer of Orange, from Lloyd Hulbert, of Anaheim. The citrus property is valued at $30,000. Two properties in Anaheim were involved in the deal.

H. D. Watson, of Los Angeles, bought a four-acre grove in the Cerro Villa tract near Villa Park from the Jotham Bixby company, of Long Beach. The land is planted to valencia oranges.

Harry R. Fox, of Portland, Ore., has purchased a five-acre orange grove northwest of Garden Grove and will make the property his home within a short time. W. A. Gill, of Garden Grove, was the seller.

Ralph Hyspe has acquired a new home in the 500 block on East Seventeenth street from Oliver Halsey, of Santa Ana. The home is an English type bungalow.

Mrs. Helene Caswell, who is at present in the Philippine Islands, has bought a Spanish type home on Riverside drive in North Broadway park. The seller was Harry Fowler.

FRUIT EXCHANGE'S SALES FOR YEAR $10,758,240.59; $11,000,000 TOTAL IS SEEN

Citrus sales of the Orange County Fruit exchange for the period ending October 31 aggregated $10,758,240.59, it was announced today by L. D. Palmer, manager. With some 75 cars remaining to be shipped, it is expected that the total at the end of the citrus year will amount to $11,000,000.

October sales of the exchange totaled $1,426,839.71, as against $1,541,837.08 for the same month of last year. The year to date returns exceed last year's total by more than $2,000,000.

The exchange has shipped 5950 cars of 400 boxes each. Of this total, 5030 cars consisted of valencias, with 800 cars devoted to lemons and 120 cars to miscellaneous varieties.

The month of August was high month this year, sales totaling $2,052,659.64.

The recent rains have retarded picking to some extent but with the warm weather now prevailing, Palmer estimates that the valencias will all be picked within three weeks.

State Asks Aid Of Realty Brokers

A request to the California Real Estate association members, as well as others in the real estate business in California, to file their application for renewal of licenses in 1928 as soon as renewal blanks are received from the state department, has been received in Santa Ana.

There are at the present time some 60,000 persons licensed in California and to handle all these renewals at one time means much congestion.

Sawdust and Shavings

Vol 2 November 3, 1927 No. 34

Published each week in the interests of the people of Santa Ana and vicinity by the Barr Lumber Company.

There are 300,000 homes a year built of wood. The lumber industry gives direct employment to 1,200,000 workers, supports one person in every 12, loads 4,000,000 freight cars yearly. One fourth of the nation's land is taken up by timber. It supplies the material for a hundred industrial groups and 4500 commodities.

The National Lumber Manufacturers' Association is asking for a slogan. They have agreed to pay several thousand dollars in prizes for the best slogans received. Their booklet, "The Story of Wood," contains the blank forms necessary to fill out and return, and your slogan will be given the same care and consideration as every other one submitted. This booklet also contains an interesting story of wood. Call now and get your copy.

Our good friend, F. J. LaBounty, has under construction a brick business building for Mr. H. H. Harrington, at Laguna Beach.

Have you noticed the improvement being made on some of our main corners in Santa Ana? This denotes progress and progress is prosperity.

Officer: "You were speeding. I've got to pinch you." Fair Motorist: "Oh, please, if you must, do it where it won't show."

"Customers push my business for me," said the manufacturer.

"What line are you in, anyway?" asked the merchant.

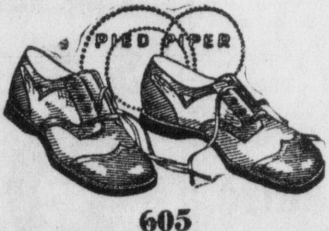

"Baby carriages," was the reply.

How many times have you wished for an up-to-date folding ironing board in your home, but did not want to go to the trouble and expense of having a wall broken into. We will be glad to send you one of our new "Noak" boards that fasten on the outside of the wall and is applied in a few minutes. We have one on display here; drop in and see it.

TWO SAILORS FACE ROBBERY
CHARGES HERE

Charged with highway robbery, and facing possible prison terms of 10 years to life, John Dudley Compton, 18, and William Blythe, 20, two San Diego sailors, are scheduled to appear in the superior court tomorrow for arraignment. The boys were held to answer the charge last Saturday and sent to the county jail after their preliminary hearing before Justice Eldon W. Stark, of Anaheim.

The robbery is said to have occurred on October 15 when the two youths were riding with Julius Scholz, of Capistrano Beach, and after an alleged liquor party in the machine, threw him from the car and beat him on the head with an insulator. They were on their way to San Diego and are believed to have proceeded from Anaheim, where police found the body of Scholz, to Torrey Pines grade. There the car broke down and they caught rides into San Diego. They were arrested on charges of drunkenness and their supposed attack on Scholz came to light as a result of questioning by officials there.

Oil Refinery Is Given University

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 4.—Since the receipt of a $30,000 oil refinery, large enough to handle runs of from 100 to 300 barrels of crude oil a day, the gift of a group of eastern manufacturing concerns, the University of Oklahoma has become the only school in the world where both theory and practice of oil refining is taught.

Fred Padgett, professor of petroleum engineering at the university, announced the gift recently and said the refinery would be installed soon.

Installation of the plant will be the latest step in the development of the school, which was said by the university last year to be the largest of its kind in the world.

The plant is not to be operated for commercial purposes nor in competition with other refineries, but refinery are expected to benefit from research that will be conducted. Several producers in Oklahoma have volunteered to supply oil for refining free.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—It was perhaps time that someone smoothed the lion. Simon D. Fess, the ebullient senator from Ohio, and President Coolidge way in a better position to do so than anyone else.

The Hon. Simeon had become a veritable Merry Andrew of politics. It was almost impossible to pick up a morning, afternoon or Sunday newspaper without discovering that the man was at it again. When a man with the Hon. Simeon's close contact with the White House spent most of his waking hours whooping up a Coolidge boom, it was natural to suspect that his outgivings had something like tacit approval from on high.

Some writers seem to believe the verbal spanking Mr. Coolidge gave Fess on his last visit to the White House was tantamount to a definite announcement that Mr. Coolidge positively would not accept renomination. Others have a contrary opinion.

Despite the fact that the president had spoken heatedly, he did no reputation for profanity, and he would not accept renomination. And when Fess quoted him as saying, "I won't be nominated," it did not appear that Mr. Coolidge planned personal intervention to see that it didn't "work out that way." In short, it continues to appear that Mr. Coolidge intends to let matters take their course.

One wonders whether the president used any good old-fashioned words in his talk with Senator Simeon. He certainly has no reputation for profanity, and it is not commonly told that he has employed it even under provocation during his occupancy of the White House, but he has a command of some of the more conventional expressions and on rare occasions as governor of Massachusetts was heard to employ them in moments of irritation.

Many of us, in our unthinking way, sometimes forget that the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy. Officers of these two services, however, bear the fact in mind and sometimes are reminded of it forcibly.

The recent experience of Gen. Charles P. Summerall, the army's chief-of-staff, may not have been adequately explained. Summerall was peremptorily ordered back from the Pacific coast after he was reported to have criticized the administration for failing to relieve the bad army housing conditions.

It appears that the general was speaking at a private luncheon, where no reporters were supposed to be present, and was explaining to a group of Californians why the army couldn't establish an important base in their territory.

Everything would have been all right if he hadn't referred to the "administration," as he was said to have done in published reports that found their way out of the meeting. On arriving back in Washington, Summerall was kept waiting several days before he saw the president. But Secretary of War Davis called at the White House in the meantime and is supposed to have made the explanations for the chief-of-staff.

AT THE THEATER

Chester Conklin, as he appears in the comedy, "Tell It to Sweeney," now playing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER

A new comedy team has appeared!

Chester Conklin and George Bancroft showed crowds at the West Coast-Walker theater yesterday just what they could do in the exacting art of creating laughs, and they proved themselves masters in that line. We have found Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton an ideal pair of funsters, and now comes this second team who bid fair to rival the popularity and box-office success of the Beery-Hatton combination.

Conklin and Bancroft have an excellent vehicle in which to make their joint debut. Titled "Tell It to Sweeney," it is a story of railroad life and is filled to the brim with pep, action and real comedy. There are thrills, too, and there is romance. The picture has everything audiences want.

The story has a well-defined plot, centered about two principal characters, Luke Beamish, a haughty engineer of another day, and Cannonball Casey, a modern throttle-pusher whose ego and Herculean strength stir the wrath of the veteran. Conklin plays Luke, and the hefty Bancroft is cast as Cannonball, a character that brings to mind the original "Casey" of melody fame. Luke has a daughter, Doris, played by Doris Hill, and Cannonball becomes infatuated with her despite the fact that the son of the railroad's owner, Jack Loden, is her favored suitor. Luke, being the operator of the ancient locomotive, is naturally jealous of the blustering Cannonball, so he doesn't favor the latter's suit. And when the youthful suitor fails to appear to wrestle the mighty Cannonball it is up to Luke to throw him.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
The creation of this funny screen character "Nervy Nat" is on the Yost Broadway vaudeville bill in person. Neely Edwards is his name.

Film fans know and love Nervy Nat, the shabby tramp with a fine sense of humor who has kept the world amused via screen comedies for several seasons. Before creating that character for the screen Neely worked with his former partner Ed Flanagan in the Hall Room Boys comedies and on the Orpheum vaudeville circuit.

His appearance here with Marguerite Snow remembered for her work in "The Million Dollar Mystery," "Chalk Marks," "The Veiled Woman" and numerous other photoplays, marks the start of another vaudeville tour in a snappy comedy act entitled "Fresh From Hollywood."

Miss Snow and Edwards are supported in this offering by Madallene Castagnola. A musical number composed and written by Neely Edwards, entitled "Love Does Some Wonderful Things,"

Germans Want
Rhodes Awards

OXFORD, England, Nov. 3.—Agitation for the readmission of German Rhodes scholars rumbles faintly in the distance along with the suggestion that Germany be given the colonies of which she was deprived by the Versailles treaty.

At the late ex-Rhodes scholars' dinner the announcement that two German scholars were present was received with general applause. The act of parliament eliminating the Germany Rhodes scholarships was passed when feeling was running high against Germans in Great Britain and all the allied countries. At that time the lot of Germans in the university would have been unendurable. But conditions have changed.

The German scholars made a good record at Oxford and did well when they returned to their homeland. Most of them were appointed to official positions.

There is much difference of opinion as to whether the Rhodes scholars from the United States and the dominions have in any considerable degree given form to Cecil Rhodes' dream for the creation of better feeling in the English-speaking world, and the British press never tires of discussing the subject and reprinting everything which is published in the United States and the dominions on the subject.

The political-minded press emphasizes its disappointment that more of the foreign Rhodes scholars do not enter politics and become outstanding leaders in their respective homelands. Newspapers of this class frequently fail to take into account the youth of many of the graduates, the economic necessity for them to earn a living in their professions, as most of them were men without private means, and the fact that many of the Rhodes scholars lost valuable years fighting in the great war.

Air Is Declared Warmest Garment

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Air is the warmest kind of garment, the institute of hygiene declared in holding an exhibition of clothing and garment materials from antiquity down to the present day.

The institute pointed out that it meant cloth should be made so that it holds air. Such cloth will have two advantages. It will ventilate, and it will warm better than closely woven cloth.

The earlier the wool is, the better it is in this respect, the experts declared.

is a feature of the divertimento. "Rich Men's Sons," the drama that had its opening at the Broadway last night, marks the debut of Ralph Graves as a director—and a promising debut it is.

Graves has directed this engaging little tale of love and adventure among society's favorites with a sureness of touch and a feeling that would do credit to many a more experienced megaphone wielder.

The cast includes Shirley Mason, George Fawcett and Robert Cain.

TEMPLE THEATER

To be able to portray his role of "The Knitting Swede" in "The Blood Ship," the feature now playing at the Temple theater, with complete realism, James Bradbury learned how to knit. During the filming of "The Blood Ship" he knitted on a sweater—and almost finished it before the end of the cruise of the "Bohemia," which had been rechristened the "Golden Bough" for the story.

The role of "The Knitting Swede" is said to be drawn from a real waterfront character—"Dog Faced Fitz"—who lived in San Francisco during the '70s and '80s.

SEAL BEACH COUNCIL MUST APPEAR BEFORE JUDGE IN SUPERIOR COURT TOMORROW

With additional complications having developed in the form of a warrant for the arrest of Mayor R. E. Doley, of Seal Beach, on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, the attempt to diagnose the political malady in that city and to prescribe a cure is expected to go a step further tomorrow in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court. The Seal Beach city council is ordered to appear at 3 p. m. and report what action has been taken in arranging for a recall election in compliance with a writ of mandamus issued Monday.

The court order commands the city officials to prepare for the election at tonight's session and to set the date not more than 40 days later.

Doley is asserted to have brandished a hammer in a threatening manner when Constable E. W. Reed attempted to serve the writ on him yesterday. He is said to have refused to have accepted service of the document.

Whether the council will order the election at tonight's session is problematical inasmuch as Burr Brown, city attorney, has announced that he will appeal from the superior court decision. It has been pointed out that an appeal possibly would have slight chance of being granted because the court record shows that the writ of mandamus was issued as a result of stipulation of attorneys on both sides.

Brown denies that he agreed to the issuing of the mandamus paper and stated on Monday that he still has the right of appeal. Observers are watching the affair with interest and are wondering whether tonight's council session and tomorrow's scheduled court hearing will bring a solution any closer or result in further complications.

ACTION TO BREAK WILL IS DROPPED

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 3.—Action of four cousins to break the $400,000 will of the late Emma L. Borden has been withdrawn.

A hearing of the case was cancelled after announcement that the will would not be contested.

No reason was given for withdrawal of the case.

The testator was a sister of Lizzie A. Borden, principal in the famous Borden murder case, which created a sensation in this section of the country more than 30 years ago.

Prison Directors Meet Saturday To Consider Paroles

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 3.—The state board of prison directors will meet here Saturday to fix sentences and consider paroles of 34 prisoners.

The name of Max Schmidt, serving a life sentence for the bombing of the Los Angeles Times and the Llewellyn Iron works also appears on the list. This is the first time Schmidt has asked for parole. He is the head of the prison machine shop.

TALBERT WILL PLEAD FRIDAY BEFORE MARKS

Gordon Talbert, released once from a murder charge, which was reduced to driving while drunk at his preliminary hearing, will again be before the Superior court at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, when he is scheduled to enter his plea at the arraignment before Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

The death of Floyd Covert, 45, last July is alleged to have been the result of an automobile ride with young Talbert which culminated when the car crashed into a tree near Huntington Beach. Mrs. Hattie Covert, his widow, signed a complaint for murder against Talbert several weeks ago.

The preliminary hearing before Justice Chris. Pann, of Huntington Beach, resulted in the charge being reduced to that of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Justice Pann held that there was no evidence of intent to kill on Talbert's part.

When the warrant for his arrest was issued from the district attorney's office, it was believed that the presence of liquor as a contributory cause of Covert's death would automatically necessitate a murder charge, as the accident occurred during the supposed commission of a felony.

TORRANCE MAN WILL CONDUCT SERVICES

Mrs. Charles Morrow, of Torrance, will conduct services at the Four Square Gospel church here tomorrow evening. It was announced today by Hazel Granov, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Morrow formerly was connected with the church, and with her husband, was a resident of this city. For more than a year she has been a student at the Bible school of Angelus Temple with a view to entering upon foreign missionary work.

Tomorrow evening she will tell of her experiences in spreading the gospel in Los Angeles in places where the gospel is never heard.

FISH EXCHANGE HIT BY COURT'S RULING

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—The state fish exchange has no right to fix the price of fish caught in Mexican waters or beyond the three-mile limit of the coast line, Superior Judge C. N. Andrews ruled in granting an injunction sought by 100 local fishermen against the state marketing officials.

H. L. Linney, of the attorney general's staff, who appeared for the state officials, declared that an appeal to the higher courts will be taken from Judge Andrews' ruling.

Sword Is Held Better Than Stick

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 3.—The sword is mightier than the night stick, in the opinion of the Stockholm police.

Representatives of the Association of Policemen recently submitted a letter to the police commissioner of Stockholm urging that the sword be reinstated as a regular police weapon. The letter claims that the baton with which the Stockholm cops have been armed for some time past it not a sufficient protection. Thugs and other desperate characters have less respect for the night stick, it is claimed. The flashing blade of the sword is required to make night prowlers cringe in fear of the law, say the policemen.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. All druggists sell lots of it.—Adv.

LANDMARK FOR 40 YEARS TO BE TORN DOWN

Part of Santa Ana's old "tank house," on Bush street, a landmark of 40 years and a relic of days when Santa Ana was nothing more than a village, is being torn down today.

The city building inspector condemned the tanks as unsafe, and only these will be removed. The building will not be destroyed.

The property belongs to the estate of the late G. H. Brunner. Santa Ana recluses whose death caused a fortune to be turned over to Charles Brown, county administrator, who has vainly sought an heir to the estate.

Brunner formerly operated the first swimming pool at the old site. This was in the days when Judge E. J. Marks was just a kid. Judge Marks today was recalling memories of many a swim in the pool, which has been used recently as a store house for Tony's cafe. The cafe owner built a roof over its concrete base and it is nearly hid from view now.

The swimming pool is located directly behind the building occupied by the Pennant cafe, on North Main street.

Judge Marks did not remark that the swimming done in the pool by the boys who are now men was done in the nude, but this was learned from George Edgar, prominent Santa Ana grocer, who probably knows more about that section of the city than any one else.

"The kids never thought of using bathing suits in those days," he said today.

Court Notes

Asks Divorce

After discovering her husband's alleged previous marriage and divorce, which she said was kept hidden from her, and following his asserted clandestine life with still another woman, Mrs. Lydia Burnheimer filed suit for divorce today against West T. Burnheimer. Mrs. Burnheimer alleges that her husband has failed to provide for his family throughout their married life. She asks the custody of one minor child.

Case Appealed

Instead of new pistons, rings and other parts, said to have made the car he purchased into a speedy automobile, Cecil Parks claims that the old boat was hardly able to run and that it was not a 1922 model, as G. R. Jones, of Orange, is said to have alleged when the deal was made. The car is an early 1921 model and Parks declares in a complaint for damages filed today against Jones, that he was forced to spend $50 to get it into running order. He won judgment for $182 in the Orange justice court. Jones appealed the case and it is now slated for a hearing in the Superior court.

Asks Judgment

The Patten Davies Lumber company filed suit today against Thomas Campbell, asking judgment for $421.18. The company alleged that it has supplied material for the construction of a home by Campbell in Anaheim and that he has paid only $361.21 of a total bill of $782.39.

Seeks Recovery

Alleging that he paid $1431.80 for E. J. Menard on a note and trust deed with the understanding that the latter would reimburse him, Harry Thompson has started action in the Superior court to recover that amount, claiming that Menard has not kept his agreement.

Sues on Note

Suing on a note which is claimed to have been assigned to it by Clifford H. Phillips, to whom it was issued originally, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company is seeking recovery of $421.13 from Wayne Goble. Action was started by the filing of a complaint in the Superior court today in which it is alleged that Goble has not paid the note.

HEAT ELECTRICALLY

COLD DAYS AHEAD!

BE PREPARED FOR THEM

Electric Heating Systems Bring You Warmth the Easiest Way

SNAP a switch—and your electric air heating system will make your home or office warm and comfortable, even on the coldest days. Modern electric equipment, entirely different in operation and principle from the small "radiant" heaters, is today heating even the largest apartment buildings. To you it offers a degree of convenience long thought impractical.

Because of their cleanliness, comfort and convenience modern systems of heating, using electricity for fuel, are rapidly gaining popularity. Particularly is this true in Southern California where power rates are favorable.

The adaptability of electric heating systems is greatly in their favor. They can be installed at the place in the room where their effectiveness will be greatest. They require no flues or vents, and it is not necessary to provide a storage place for fuel.

The ease with which the heaters are operated has been mentioned. They require no attention save the turning of the switch, and even this may be done automatically if you wish. Controls can be furnished which turn the heat on or off at certain temperatures or hours of the day.

Users of approved types of electric air heating are given special low rates for electricity. This makes it possible for you to be secure from cold weather and to enjoy the many advantages of electric air heating at the lowest possible cost.

Fasting Is Way To Reduce

If I were overweight it seems to me that the quickest and easiest way of reducing to normal would be to start by a fast. Fasting never hurts anyone, provided, of course, that it is not kept up too long. It is such a marvelous way of ridding the system of poisons that have accumulated, and of fat that has spoiled the figure, it takes no time and certainly costs nothing, and the worst thing that can be said of it is that it is a bore. Still, think of a week or two weeks of going without food when the result will be a slimmer figure, better looks, a quicker brain, a better skin, better health and greater activity.

Besides, fasting in the scientific way is not actually going without everything. It is merely substituting fruit juice and water for the large amounts of food that have played havoc with one's looks, mentality, and will power.

A two or three day fast can't hurt you if you are too stout, no matter what your troubles are. If you intend to diet, the fast has this great virtue, it will shrink the enlarged stomach, so that you'll actually want less food when you begin to eat. The stomach demands food in accordance with its size. You must eat more when there is a larger space to fill. Personally I think the physician's formula of three glasses of orange juice a day and three glasses of water is the easiest and best to follow.

That gnawing feeling of hunger will be keenest around time for the first meal, and will grow less as each meal time approaches, until, if you keep up the fast you don't care about food. In connection with this take a daily enema and note, incidentally, the beautiful quality and texture of your skin which improves every day.

It is always a good thing to ask your physician about this fast if you have any sort of heart trouble, though I have yet to find a doctor object on that account. Anyway try this for a few days.

E. M. K.—To help train your lashes to curl place a stick, such as a pencil, along the edge of the lashes and brush the ends back over this every day.

Mrs. B. J. R.—Usually when the upper parts of the arms are too fleshy, it shows that there is too much weight all over the body. If this is so, reduce by eating less starch and sugar, and if your weight is correct, reduce the arms by giving a vigorous massage every day.

Bluebell—If you paint a little bit of bitter aloes under your finger nail tips, you will most likely overcome the habit of biting your nails.

You can get it at the drug store, and it is harmless if you should get some of it into your mouth.

Continental wearing of high heeled shoes will affect your health. Take olive oil or drink plenty of milk to build up your weight. If you choose the oil, make it a tablespoonful three times a day in the same amount of grape juice.

PARIS DEMANDS THAT FUR COATS BE MADE ON CLASSIC LINES AND WITH RICH LININGS

BY ROSETTE
NEA Fashion Expert

PARIS, Nov. 2.—To a French woman a fur coat is distinctly a luxury, rather than a necessity, and whatever the mode may be she insists that her fur coat be made on what she calls classical lines. She counts her furs among her most prized possessions, and nothing but the very best, both in quality and workmanship, will satisfy her.

The furs of this season are rich and attractive. We have gone far from the heavy, ungainly coats which used to be worn, with comfort and warmth the main considerations and all ideas of lines disregarded.

Broadtail, mink, caracul, dyed ermine, pressed lamb (American broadtail), natural squirrel, Hudson seal, natural and dyed moleskin are the most fashionable furs.

Imitation furs are being left severely alone except as linings for cloth coats or automobile wraps. The discriminating woman prefers a real, high-class fur coat if she can afford it to two or three of inferior or imitation fur.

Revillon et Compagnie are showing fine fur models this season with very severe slim lines. One very beautiful model, however, in broadtail trimmed with chinchilla, features the slight flare, but this is only permissible in a soft, flat fur.

Still another very attractive model—of pressed lamb (American broadtail) shows three rows of "nervures" or pipings, but generally speaking the straight line is still in favor. Capes are entirely out of fashion for street wear.

Fox is undoubtedly the favorite fur trimming this winter. It is both soft and becoming to the face and is besides an effective contrast to the coat itself. The vogue of black and white is generally carried out in black broadtail and ermine, but owing to the fragility of the ermine, this combination is only seen in the more elaborate models.

A novelty the furriers offer is dyed ermine. They contend that although it may seem an act of vandalism to dye ermine, its use was more or less exclusively reserved to evening cloaks, where if it is dyed a beautiful beige it is both smart and practical and has more lasting qualities. Such new coats are also trimmed with fox fur either matching or in a lighter shade of beige.

Another new fur is pressed lamb, often dyed beige or grey, worked by the furriers so it is nearly as supple as broadtail with the advantage of being of a much more approachable price. Hudson seal is said to be coming in again and several models are being shown trimmed with natural or dyed squirrel or beige or grey fox.

Fur coats are being lined to match the dress with which they will be worn, thus carrying through the ensemble idea. Otherwise linings are generally of crepe de chine in a shade matching the fur or again of satin covered over with crepe georgette. Vivid linings are reserved for evening cloaks, where for example an ermine wrap will be lined with deep rose or sapphire blue chiffon velvet.

Although the idea of a fur hat may sound impossible some modistes have been able to achieve some very delightful models in the lighter furs. Dalodier, for example, has created a moleskin beret to accompany a moleskin coat which is very smart and new and Jeanne Lanvin shows a very smart coat in shaded grey caracul, with a hat of grey felt combined with the same caracul.

Another model is finished off with a little bow of the same fur as the coat it is made to go with. This is a further demonstration that the "ensemble" idea can be expressed in many ways and will find favor for a long time.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

"What is home anyway? Is it a place where mother runs a hotel for the accommodation of the rest of you?" This question from Mrs. Herbert Hoover to the Girl Scouts of America is a very pertinent question to be asked of not only girl scouts but all sons and daughters who live at home. I quoted some authority a day or so ago to the effect that the effect that the "most exploited woman worker is the home maker."

THEIR OWN FAULT

Sometimes one wonders, though, if down-trodden, abused, overworked women don't choose and prefer their own lot? The mother instinct is so strong that it is much easier to let nature take its course and blindly slave to the bone for one's children than to discipline this natural bent and blend judgment with it for the greater good of one's children.

THEY DO IT

Parents rebel sometimes at "what children expect today." But why do they expect it? Simply because parents get much more pleasure out of seeing their children in silks while they themselves wear cotton than having luxuries themselves and seeing the children content with lesser things. And because they are too selfish to subdue this natural inclination of theirs, and because of their own personal pleasure in doing it they surfeit children with luxury from parental sacrifice. Then when they can no longer do it and are ready to call a halt they wonder why "children expect so much today."

KILLED HER CHILD

The little three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Raymond Gunn of Juliette, Ga., was afraid of the dark, especially of dark closets. She told her mother that snakes hid in closets to bite little girls. Her mother thought she would show her in a closet just to show her that there was nothing to be afraid of.

She paid no attention to the child's screams that snakes were after her. When she finally unlocked the door, the little girl was dead and a black-hoop snake unwound itself from about her crushed throat and glided away into the darkness.

It's rather cruel to say "serve her right!" but the child of any mother who would lock her in a dark closet is better off without the mother, even if she must die for the escape!

"COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE"

I wish people wouldn't talk until they know what they are talking about! I am especially "fed up" on all the shocked prattle about Judge Lindsey's "free love" theory. Now if all the prattlers would hush up long enough to read Lindsey's "Companionate Marriage" they would find out what he meant. To be sure, it would not be as shocking nor make such spicy gossip chatter as what they think he means. But Judge Ben Lindsey no more believes in "free love" than you or I do. He asks for thoughtful, sensible marriages, with an understanding on each side that if their marriage is not successful they will agree to disagree. Not so sensational, is it?

JAPANESE MAID AIDS WOMEN OF TOKIO TO ACHIEVE BEAUTY

Miss Cherry was a pioneer in bobbing and waving in Japan.

By NEA Service

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 3.—Little Miss Cherry learned about women from America.

Now she runs the most successful beauty parlor operated by a woman in Tokio. She ranks high in the Who's Who of feminine successes in Japan. She was a pioneer in bobbing Oriental hair. She took the initiative in introducing the water wave and permanent.

Twelve years ago Miss Cherry studied American vanities and American business methods in an exclusive beauty parlor in New York where society fashionables made a fad of asking for the little Japanese girl in her gay kimono.

Now she runs her spacious Maru-no-uchi Biyo-in (beauty parlor) in Tokio's largest office building and, with her husband, C. Yamano, manufactures a whole line of luxurious beauty lotions which they distribute, in American fashion, through a chain of stores. "Vanities is dear to the heart of women all over the world," she says, in slow but quite good English. "But the Japanese women are slow to adopt many of the beauty fads American women accept so easily."

"I came home with my own hair bobbed. I found that Japanese women preferred to patronize a conservative type of shop so I let it grow again. But I bob many of the girls who were educated in France or America."

"I had a hard time persuading women to get a permanent wave because Japanese women for centuries have felt that curly hair is a sign of mixed blood, a mark of inferiority. But with European dress being adopted more freely, Japanese women cannot wear their hair in native style comfortably, so more are getting it waved and bobbed."

Miss Cherry has all the fixings of the most modern New York shop—tiny spotless booths fitted to massage, pluck eyebrows, manicure, dye or henna hair, shampoo or otherwise beautify Miss Tokyo. Moreover, she has some of the soft invisible fuzz that grows on the clear, firm brown faces of Japanese flappers. Quite an addition to most New York shops is Miss Cherry's custom of serving tea to her clients.

The most profitable part of Miss Cherry's trade is assisting brides to dress for their weddings. There is the hair to fix, first, a long, tedious process of much waxing and brushing until stiff and then arranging the knot and arrangements so they will tell the world that she is a bride. The obi, too, must be tied just right for the expensive sashes Japanese brides indulge in demand an expert hand to fashion the back bow.

"It used to be that only the rich or other women on such special occasions as weddings had professional beauty care," Miss Cherry says. "But all that is changing in Japan. As women go into factories and stores to work they are keeping part of their money for themselves. They all want to be beautiful."

In addition to her shop and her manufacturing business, Miss Cherry has time to pay a great deal of attention to her little seven-year-old son. For while a feminist, she is a real Japanese woman at heart.

"Of course I think women should work. But I could never find complete happiness in business. I think all women should have their homes and children, too. They often can mean more to their children if they are out in the world, keeping in touch with life."

A correct hat and dress for every woman and every occasion. Mme. Marie Louise, 419 N. Bldg.

Will Brawn Be Future's Ideal

By Olive Roberts Barton
A boy of ten stands as close as he can get to the radio, listening to each round of a prize fight. Above him on the wall hangs a picture of Lincoln—the man who put up probably the greatest moral fight of all history.

Should we blame the boy or his parents that he is interested to white heat over a prize fight and has completely forgotten the existence of the other?

The Saturday that clinched the World Series for the Yankees we motored probably fifty miles. And in every village and city over the entire route there stood a crowd of men, women and boys watching the score.

Is young America of the future going to be a pugilistic, home-run hitting fan? Is that going to be the result of radios instantaneous press services, and other devices? Or is he going to be the studious analytical child who has a true idea of heroes and worthwhile people?

To tell the truth I was pretty well grown before it dawned on me that Lincoln was a great man. I recited in school like a parrot of all the great things he had done. We had pictures all over the house.

But one cannot be told of another's greatness. He has to live through trouble, to arrive at man's or woman's estate before he is capable of understanding what others have endured. It is only the middle aged who can gaze into the sad stone face in Washington and understand the half of what is written there. It means nothing to the young. But there is one thing we might do. Along with the boy's education in the Olympic arts, we might get him interested in a living statesman.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The man who from the barrel rose, was just a streak and had no clothes. His body was a trail of white that wavered in the breeze. His eyes shone bright. His face was brown. He smiled to all the Tinymites. "Now listen, if you please."

"I've been locked up for years and years. It's almost brought me unto tears. Within that barrel I've been kept, with no way to get out. Upon the waves I've sailed along and heard the wild sea's washing song. I simply made the best of it. There was no use to pout."

"And then I landed on the shore. I thought it was the ocean's floor, but when I heard your voices, I was sure I was on land. At first I was afraid you'd stop when you began to break the top, and then when you continued, I knew some friends were on hand."

"Of course I really was surprised when I got out. I realized that I was free. Just think of that. It surely made me glad. The shore and trees looked, oh, so grand, and then I saw your happy band. I knew that you had saved me, and some real good friends I had."

"Why, we were glad to help you out," wee Scouty soon was heard to shout. "We wish we'd found you sooner. What a life you must have had." The man then laughed and said, "Well, thanks! I'll soon sail out across these banks, but I first I'll try to prove to you that I am really glad."

"When I have disappeared from sight, start rapping hard, with all your might upon this little barrel and you'll find a treat that's rare. Some little things will hop right out and they will make you laugh and shout." And then the queer man disappeared by drifting into air.

MOTHER

A Cross, Feverish Child is Bilious,
Constipated

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruitful laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California
Fig Syrup."

Fig Syrup, which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the

MARVELS OF ALASKA ARE UNFOLDED BY 'SOURDOUGH' IN TALK TO KIWANIS CLUB

R. P. Ritchie, of Bell, in an address at the meeting yesterday of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, pictured Alaska as one of the scenic points of this continent and a territory destined to rapid development, in the near future, of big cities and vast new wealth from gold stored in that region. Ritchie was one of the sturdy young men who risked their lives in the grand rush to the Yukon in 1898.

Women were present as special guests to hear the interesting story of Alaska as recited by the veteran of the cold north—and they were not disappointed, for his recounting of incidents of mining life and the beauties of that section at this time teemed with interest and good information.

Ritchie is known as a "sour-dough," and exhibited an insignia of the Yukon Order of Pioneers as evidence that he had been on the Yukon at the time of the gold rush, for it was pointed out that originally membership was limited to men who went in prior to 1898 and later was changed for the admission of men arriving in the territory as late as 1900.

Commenting on the beauties of Alaska and comparing it with Europe, the speaker said that 500,000 Americans last year went to Europe and spent a billion dollars, and found nothing of greater interest than can be found in Alaska. He pronounced as erroneous the impression that Alaska perpetually is a wilderness of snow and ice, and declared that in its broad expanse of 2000 by 3000 miles there was much variation in climate, with some localities being as favorably situated in this respect as are sections of the United States.

Take Out Millions
"One of the sad things in relation to Alaska is the fact that men have been taking untold millions out of the country and have put nothing back to help in the preservation or advancement of that section," the speaker said, and he added that in his opinion the time is not far distant when Alaska will be the location of many big cities and big agricultural and mining developments.

He predicted the opening of new gold fields that would equal those of the Yukon, Fairbanks and Nome, and asserted that a company now is spending $15,000,000 in development of mining plans by which it expects to reap a harvest of $200,000,000 within the next 10 to 15 years.

Ritchie did not touch upon the experiences of the days of the Yukon, further than to say that some of the early day men suffered very severe hardships and that it required indomitable will and great physical strength for one to endure the severe trials. He recounted that many men who went in and made big fortunes lost their wealth by gambling and bad investments.

"The most interesting men in Alaska today are the men who went in 1897 and 1898, the old and hardened prospectors," Ritchie commented, in declaring that new fields are yet to be opened and urging that every assistance—moral and financial—be given men who want to go in as prospectors.

Dr. Smith Chairman
Dr. MacVicker Smith was the program chairman and it was through his acquaintance with Ritchie that the latter was obtained as a speaker. The men met on the trip Dr. Smith and his family took this summer to Alaska.

The program was introduced by two vocal numbers by Miss Dorothy Smith, daughter of the chairman, who sang "A Brown Bird Singing" (Hayden-Wood) and "My Lover's a Fisherman" (Lily Strickland). The vocalist was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong. Miss Armstrong has on many occasions assisted the club in its musical features of its programs, and the occasion of her appearance yesterday was accepted by Robert Speed as an opportunity for the club to show its appreciation of the services Miss Armstrong has rendered. She was proposed by Speed as an honorary member with the title of "Sister in Kiwanis," and official approval of the suggestion will be made later by the board of directors.

Leo Eckles has been credited with origination of a great many songs for the club with a local club color, but the one he offered yesterday for the special occasion was declared the best ever, and because of its cleverness, it is given below, at the request of a number of members. It is titled "A Picture No Artist Can Paint" and is dedicated to the "Four Horsemen of the Next Eclipse." H. MacVicker Smith, physician; George Smith, mortician; Ed Dessery, insurance; and Fred Forgy, attorney, all are candidates for office at the coming club election.

And here are the lines:
An up-to-date Kiwanis Club—election time draws near,

On each face a modest smile, to each the call is clear;
When up spoke Orlyn, brave and tall, and fearless too—says he,

"Let us be thoughtful, men, and cool in this emergency.
We must choose men whose worth we know, and on whom we can lean."

But when the primary count was made a funny thing was seen.
Each man had voted for himself, but named a second choice,
And from this group there "rose" a man that made their hearts rejoice.

CHORUS
Picture a doctor waiting round,
To help us to lay life's burdens down;

Picture a mortician at the end,
Covering mistakes of his doctor friend.

Picture insurance to stand the test,
And pay up the bills when we've "gone west."

Picture a lawyer who takes the rest
That's a picture no artist can paint.

JAPANESE WILL ORGANIZE FOR SELF DEFENSE

FRESNO, Nov. 3.—Formation of an "unarmed" Japanese vigilance committee to guard against two masked bandits, who specialize in pillaging Japanese farm homes in the San Joaquin valley, will be undertaken, Sheriff William F. Jones has announced.

Denied the use of firearms under alien restrictions, Japanese were urged to co-operate with county authorities in an effort to apprehend the marauders responsible for 16 outrages on Japanese homes since last summer.

The vigilance committee will be composed of members of the Japanese association, an organization representing 4500 Japanese in Fresno and Madera counties.

The committee's sole weapon will be a sharp eye to observe the characteristics of the bandits during invasions to obtain positive identification to aid in their apprehension.

Identity of the bandits is a mystery. Excitement prevailing during the holdups has made identification difficult.

"Be calm," Sheriff Jones advised the Japanese association at a meeting here. "Don't get excited. Keep your wits about you and observe the intruders' characteristics. It will avail us little to bring a man to trial unless you can be positive in your identification."

The bandits began their activities on July 19 last.

Swooping down on isolated farm houses under cover of darkness, the masked intruders tie their victims with rope, scoop up available cash and implement that attract them and make their escape in a waiting automobile.

A 12-year-old Japanese girl was attacked in the presence of her family on October 13. Two Japanese were wounded last week when they offered resistance.

ADVENTURE SOUGHT BY RUNAWAY GIRL

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 2.—Marie Bliss, 16, daughter of a Glendale, Calif., cafe owner, today has gained an "adventure" to be used when she "gets older and writes books."

The girl who ran away from her California home because she was tired of housework, was being held for her parents following her arrest at their request. She was found in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. R. Verner here.

"When I get older I would like to write books of adventure—not 'wild west' stuff, but the sort that show the struggle of a woman or a man for position in the world," the girl said in the matron's quarters of the jail.

Says Weight May Cut Efficiency

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—If you are 50 years old and weigh within a few pounds of the average person of your age, you are between 40 and 40 pounds too heavy to reach the maximum mental and physical efficiency, Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician for a life insurance company, told the United Press today.

"The amount below average weight," Dr. Dublin said, "should increase as people grow older. An excess of 10 pounds, for example, is associated with the most favorable conditions among people between the ages of 20 and 25." At the age of 30 a level is said to be reached, after which underweight is more to be desired than overweight.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creosote, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosote is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creosote contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creosote is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MANNEQUIN AND PRINCESS ARE RIVALS IN LOVE

PARIS, Nov. 3.—In a dinky attic in the Latin quarter, a blonde mannequin, whose identity is hidden behind the nickname, "Suzette," is consoling a broken heart with pride in her knowledge that she is a rival of the former German Kaiser's sister for the love of Alexander Zoubkoff, mysterious, handsome young Russian.

Zoubkoff is engaged to marry the 33-year-old rejuvenated Princess of Schaumburg-Lippe, the ex-Kaiser's sister, in Berlin today.

The newspaper Le Matin published what is declared is the true story of the love of Zoubkoff and Suzette.

When it became obvious that Zoubkoff had left Paris determined to marry the mature princess, the newspaper said, Suzette produced a bundle of letters and papers Zoubkoff had left with her in his hurried departure after a summons by the princess.

Accepted Board, Lodging
Suzette said that Zoubkoff not only loved her, but loved her enough to accept board and lodging at her expense for six months. She met him, she said, at a Russian bar near the Pantheon, when he was penniless and in rags.

Zoubkoff's male beauty did to Suzette what it did later to the princess. She fell in love with him and took him home to share her little attic home. Zoubkoff's contributions to their love affair was to entertain Suzette with tales of extravagant adventures, the girl went on.

Zoubkoff told her how he had escaped from a Bolshevik prison, launched his social career in Swedish cabarets, made a trip around the world as a seaman and ended up as a guide to "disorderly sights" at Marseilles. Then, through a wealthy relative, Zoubkoff met the princess at Bonn, Germany.

Suzette recounted that Zoubkoff often used to laugh at his flowery romance with the princess, telling her he used to walk arm-in-arm with her in the moonlight along the banks of the Rhine until he finally sickened of the affair.

Gets Letter From Princess
At the height of his idyll with Suzette, the girl went on, Zoubkoff burst into her room brandishing a letter from the princess, and crying:

"She wants to marry me! she wants to marry me!"

Suzette says Zoubkoff explained:

"I left her because I thought she was trifling with me. Now she is in earnest."

Zoubkoff left with his letter from the princess, Suzette says. She adds that the missive, written in English, concluded passionately:

"Come to me with all speed, my lambkin; I can't live without you."

Bryan's Kin To Race For Congress

Mrs. Owen campaigned for the office in 1926, against Congressman W. J. Sears, who has represented the district for some years, and was narrowly defeated.

SANTA ANA, ORANGE SET FOR 'BIG GAME'

Six County Elevens Play Tomorrow

NO BIG GAMES SCHEDULED FOR FOURTH ROUND

Garden Grove, Anaheim to Clash; Fullerton Faces Excelsior; H. B. Travels

Orange County League

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Orange	4	0	1	1.000
Anaheim	2	0	0	1.000
Fullerton	2	0	0	1.000
Excelsior	1	1	1	.500
Huntington Beach	1	1	1	.500
Garden Grove	0	2	0	.000
Brea	0	3	0	.000
Tustin	0	4	0	.000

Only three instead of the customary four weekly football tidbits will be decided in the Orange County Athletic league tomorrow afternoon and, as was the case last week, not a single shot will be provided in the southern part of the district.

There isn't a real thriller in the layout as none of the undefeated leaders—Fullerton, Anaheim and Orange—get together but satisfactory football should be produced at Anaheim, Excelsior and Brea, the locale for the three scuffles.

Orange and Tustin draw a bye, having played their regularly scheduled contest early in the campaign. Orange will wrestle with the powerful Santa Ana Poly squad here tomorrow but "Big Bill" Cole, the Tustin chief, intends to give his lads a much deserved rest. "Big Three" already has played the Tustin, Anaheim and Orange but the remainder of their schedule is more far, Garden Grove, Brea-Olinda and Huntington Beach being the next three opponents.

Anaheim is still a highly rated contender for the county bunting and figures to keep its escutcheon unblemished by taking the measure of "Tubby" Wieman's Chilipeppers but Garden Grove has been an annoyingly strong defensive foe for all of the big guns this year and might possibly provide a sensational upset.

Excelsior also has a pretty good defensive bunch but is not expected to give "Shorty" Smith's Fullertonites much more than a vigorous workout.

Huntington Beach will be favored to thump Brea-Olinda as Harry Sheue now has his charges playing better football each week.

Rozelle Lost To Oxy For Season

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—Football at Occidental college suffered a blow today when Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager, announced that "Rozzy" Rozelle, halfback who suffered a nervous breakdown last week, would not play against Redlands here Saturday and was probably lost for the season.

PALO ALTO, Calif.—With both "Spud" Harden, end, and Walter Hennecke, reserve tackle, fully recovered from injuries, the Stanford Cards today were on their way to Seattle where they will clash with the undefeated Washington Huskies Saturday.

BERKELEY—When the California Bears and the Montana Grizzlies meet here Saturday Coach "Nibs" Price, Bear mentor, is expected to use his second string men the major part of the game and save his first string for the coming game with the Washington Huskies.

BILLY EVANS

SURVIVAL OF FITTEST

The business of being a football coach for one of our leading universities is anything but a soft job.

With the terrific overhead that goes with the modern football stadium, it is almost a necessity that the coach turn out a winner each year if he is to get financial as well as artistic results.

A poor team means empty seats and since football takes care of all other major sports, as well as intramural athletics, the football coach carries many added responsibilities.

Aside from the failure to produce big financial returns to take care of the stadium overhead as well as the other sports that lose money, there is also the wall of the undergraduates and the roar of the disgruntled alumni to face.

This football coaching business has reached the stage where it is a survival of the fittest, with big names going into the discard annually.

JONES WINNING AT YALE

Prior to the opening of the present season, Tad Jones of Yale tendered his resignation to take effect at the close of the season. Apparently Jones had decided he wasn't satisfying some of the critical as well as more prominent alumni.

NEW PRESIDENT

E. S. Barnard, acting "prexy" of the Cleveland Indians, has been elected president of the American league, succeeding Ban Johnson.

HUDKINS AFTER DUNDEE'S TITLE IN GO TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—When Joe Dundee, Baltimore Italian, and Ace Hudkins, native of Lincoln, Nebr., face each other under the glaring lights of an outdoor arena here tonight for the welterweight championship of the world, each will be in the best condition of his fight career and confident of winning by a knockout.

That much was gathered from the fighter's final statements, made as they rested before setting forth to the battleground where Dundee will risk his title crown before the onslaughts of the Nebraska "Wildcat."

Dundee and Hudkins will rest today, weighing in before representatives of the California Athletic commission and Promoter Dick Donald late this afternoon.

The champion will weigh 145, he said, while Ace expects the scales to register 146 pounds. Dundee is 24 years of age, is 5 feet, 9 inches tall and has a 70 inch reach. Hudkins is 22 years old, an inch shorter than Dundee and lacks two inches of the Italian's reach.

Donald said today that advanced sales totaled $50,000 excluding ticket brokers, who will not report until tonight. With a clear day foretelling a perfect night, he expects a heavy gate sale at Wrigley field and total receipts of more than $100,000. Sixty thousand dollars is Dundee's guarantee, while Hudkins will battle for 12 1/2 per cent of the gate.

Hudkins intends to stake his fistful career on tonight's result, declaring that if he wins he will be a fighting champion, but in case he loses his big shot, he will take on two more opponents and then retire with the fruits of 147 ring battles.

LEADING TEAMS OF CONFERENCE PLAY SATURDAY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—Leadership in the Southern California conference is the prize that hangs at stake to be struggled for when Pomona and University of California at Los Angeles meet in the Coliseum here Saturday in the Southland's leading gridiron struggle.

The silent Sagehens from Claremont have won four conference struggles to date and have suffered no losses, while Coach Bill Spaulding's team of Bruins has disposed of three conference rivals and are likewise undefeated.

Pomona started her conference race by downing Caltech, 19 to 6, trouncing La Verne 25 to 0, let fly at Whittier with a 19 to 0 wallop and then took victory and a bad scare from San Diego State last Saturday, 18 to 12.

The Bruins record is no less impressive. Whittier fell before their onslaught, 24 to 0, Occidental's Tigers were sacrificed 8 to 0 in a hard fought battle and then the Bruins romped away from Redlands to a 32 to 0 tune.

Wagers Favor U.C.L.A.

Dopesters here who are inclined to figure gridiron results in the dollar and cent terms of friendly, and otherwise, wagers are inclined to give U.C.L.A. the lion's chance Saturday and the locals are quoted at odds at present.

In strictly collegiate circles, however, they argue that it is anybody's game until the last whistle calls a halt to hostilities. It is pointed out that Pomona is a team that rises to great heights in face of stiff competition and Coach Eugene Nixon has surely pointed his charges to the Bruin conflict—the highest hurdle in Pomona's race toward the championship.

In addition, the thorough fight experienced by the Sagehens at San Diego when a concerted and powerful sweep down the field broke a 12 to 12 tie and saved them from entering the lists against the Bruins a defeated club will serve as a tonic despite bruises received by many Pomona stars, followers of the game admit.

Nixon has virtually given up rope of starting Clarence Bishop, his stellar end, who was injured against Whittier and is grooming "Stew" Hagstad and Frank Dyer for the berth. "Poke" Hartman, sophomore star, Harold Merritt and Lee Williams, members of the ground gaining backfield, will form the competing running machine of the Bruins. Fleming is recovering from injured legs and will be in perfect shape for the team, team trainers promise.

The backfields should be about equal in ability basing calculations on performances this season and the Bruin advantage, if any there is, lies in their forward wall which to date has defied enemy assaults to perfection.

POND RETALIATES

Mercedes Gleitz, London stenographer, who swam the English channel a month ago, fails on her second attempt and is hauled from the water into an accompanying dory. Her second crossing was undertaken to vindicate her first, upon which she considered Dr. Dorothy Logan's "hoax swim" a reflection.

PIRONNE STARS OPPOSE COUNTY SQUAD SUNDAY

Joe Pironne's crack collection of professional ball tossers are scheduled to open the Southern California league season Sunday at the Orange County Fair grounds against Art Sullivan's All-County club.

Pironne has assembled an aggregation of well known diamond performers, including Carl Sawyer, one of the game's best known comedians, who will be in the lineup.

Recent rains proved beneficial to the new diamond at the fair grounds and by Sunday they should be in excellent shape. A force of men is at work putting the finishing touches on the field and preparing to accommodate a good sized crowd of fans at the opening league game.

George ("Rube") Ellis, former National league star and later manager of the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast circuit, is at the helm of the County club. He has laid the foundation of his club with well known professionals and built around that with a number of promising Orange county boys.

Phil Schrott, former outfielder on the state champion Anaheim Elks nine, is one of the young players due to receive a thorough trial by Ellis. Darwin "Scotty" Scott, another well known Santa Ana night league star, and Ed Daley, Santa Ana boy, are others well known here who will strive for regular places on the club.

Sunday's game is scheduled to start at 2:15. The huge fair grounds offer ample parking space for autos and the permanent grand stand insures a good seat for several thousand fans.

George Kelly To Marry S. F. Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—George Kelly, former member of the New York Giants and at present on the player list of the Cincinnati Reds, will be married today to Miss Helen Mary O'Connor, San Francisco. Kelly graduated to the big leagues from here.

ORANGE LOOKS FOR S. A. GAME TO BE CLOSE

ORANGE, Nov. 3.—Facing its first real test of the season, Coach Stewart White's Orange eleven plunged into intensive practice last night for its non-conference spat with Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana Poly aggregation on the Santa Ana gridiron Friday afternoon.

A victory for either team would still leave Coach "Shorty" Smith's Fullerton Redlegs to bar the path, but unless Fullerton shows great improvement over its Bakersfield debacle it will not prove a serious threat. Both Orange and Santa Ana will get a crack at Smith's cohorts, the Orange meeting them in a league engagement, while Santa Ana has the red team booked for its annual big game.

At Santa Ana rumors have been to the effect that Coach Oliver is planning to start his reserves to save his regulars for the tough Pasadena team which is now leading the Coast prep lop. Oliver, however, would like to lose the Orange game about as much as he would his right eye so that the fans can bank on seeing the Poly regulars in the fray the minute the going gets too tough for the second-stringers.

Look Bad in Practice

White's charges looked terrible in practice yesterday the team apparently having suffered from its long lay off from practice. Except for the Brea game last Friday the Orangemen had been inactive ever since last Wednesday.

An epidemic of fumbling, ragged interference and muffed plays marked the workout, causing White no end of worry. It's a question whether the team can be whipped into shape in the next two days to give a good account of itself in the Santa Ana tussle.

"About a week ago, I think we could have given Santa Ana a real battle but right now it is problematical unless the boys snafu off it pretty quick," moaned White after seeing his charges perform at their worst last evening.

Harvey Pease, who played a bang up defensive game against Brea and who was being counted upon to start at end against Santa Ana, appeared to be in a slump and may not even see action next Friday.

Rice Shifted to End

"Pat" Rice, who had been shifted from half to end to give the Orange wings more weight, has been improving, but it is doubtful whether he will be sufficiently grounded in wing play to start against the Polyites.

As a result, White will probably start his two pony ends, Conkright and Allen, whose aggressiveness has offset their lack of weight.

The Orangemen will get into the fray with only two probable changes in the lineup. Myracle is slated to start at center in place of McCoy, while Elmore Lord, a shift running back, will probably alternate with Mickey Walker in the backfield.

NOT AN IDLE RICH

High-hat in family background only is Nelson Rockefeller (center) son of John D. Jr., when he and his green and white blazer take the soccer field for Dartmouth college.

FEAR FOUR DONS STARS VICTIMS OF FACULTY AX

That old battle ax of the faculty, ineligibility, loomed today as the Santa Ana Junior college football eleven when Coach Bill Cook said that four of his regulars, whose names he would not divulge, might be watching the proceeding from the sidelines Saturday when the Dons meet the powerful Pasadena junior college aggregation at Poly field.

The loss of any players might be fatal for the Santa Ana eleven for the full strength of the team is needed to oppose the Pinta squad. Pasadena's star player is "Slick" Stocks, a colored athlete who has wrecked the aspirations of many a Santa Ana coach in past years. Stocks is a brilliant open field runner, but despite his highly touted reputation the San Bernardino team effectively stopped him in the conference game which was won by San Bernardino in the last minute of play.

A large squad of reverses are at the disposal of Coach Frank Baker, Pasadena mentor, more than 50 athletes being on the aggregation. The game will be critical for on it will depend which team is to remain in the running for the Southern California Junior College conference title in the neck and neck race to head off Compton. Both Santa Ana and Pasadena have been defeated once and both have yet to meet Compton. A second defeat would shove either college out of the going.

Have Passing Attack

Edwards is a gifted forward passer to boot and Blackburn a skilled receiver and Santa Ana has yet to prove conclusively that it can stop this kind of attack so at least the Orange efforts should be of great benefit to the Polyites who in Pasadena will face the most dangerous offense in Southland prep football Armistice day.

It is understood here today that Coach White has made a couple of significant eleventh hour changes in the personnel of his Orange lineup and that he would send on the field as his ends the heavy "Pat" Rice, hitherto a back, and "Sweet" Pease, another big chap, for what apparently will be an effort to harass Santa Ana's reverses, triple passes and other fancy stuff. Conkright and Allen, who have started every game this season, are fast aggressive ends but both lack beef.

Another change bruited about the football rjato was the sending of the chunky line-bucker, Walker, into the regular backfield along with Edwards, quarter, Blackburn, halfback, and Chastain, fullback. This was taken to mean that White may probe the center of the Poly line to find if it stands muster.

Hasn't Named Lineup

Oliver is relatively certain to start something of a makeshift eleven, half-first and half-second, for the count.

De Hate was substituting for Johnny Adams, who was forced to cancel due to injuries. De Hate floored La Salle three times in the first round and was far in the lead until he walked into the fast one in the fifth frame.

COLONEL PANATELAS

3 25c ROEHM-SYLVESTER, Inc. DISTRIBUTORS

NEIGHBORS COMING HERE TOMORROW EXPECTING TO TAKE LONG END OF SCORE

The "wonder team" of the Orange County Athletic league—Orange—will come to Poly field here tomorrow full of hustle, fight and ambition to demonstrate that there is only one "wonder team" in Orange county and that it isn't "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana high school creation. This non-conference clash, figuring to be one of the most interesting and entertaining dishes on the season's football menu, will begin at 3 p. m. There will be no curtain-raiser.

Usually the small town challengers breeze into town as cocky as all get-out, and with a chip on their shoulders that they want someone to knock off, but there is none of the bluster or braggadocio about this unbeaten Orange troupe which has scored 141 points in six games and which hopes to add the county champions to its long list.

Instead Coach Stewart White has inculcated a quiet air of confidence in his charges and the spirit seems to permeate the entire Orange community which will close shop and string along, financially and spiritually, with what is believed to be the best ever to come out of the neighboring city, with the probable exception of the near-championship one of 1924.

Is It Just a Bubble?

Whether this mysterious complacency is but a bubble which the young Mr. Oliver's disciples will puncture on the morrow remains to be determined.

All of the obscurity surrounding the preparation of Orange for this, its first for a place in the football sun, does not end at Orange, however. Coach Oliver has been going about his business down at Poly field with an air of secrecy unusual for this ordinarily outspoken monitor and while he gives the impression that he is not vitally concerned about the outcome, there is evidence that he isn't taking Willie's men lightly. Orange thinks it has the finest offensive machine in the county and its chief concern is said to be whether it can make more touchdowns than Santa Ana, admittedly a dangerous antagonist when it assumes charge of the old agate. The "Whitely" Edwards-cayne Blackburn backfield combination has had a good look at the goal-line of every opposing team this season and the locals may find difficulty arresting these two fleet kids who have run wild in every sort of going.

A'S UNABLE TO PAY SALARY AS ASKED BY COBB

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 3.—Ty Cobb, veteran outfielder, will become a free agent ready to bargain with any club in the country because the Philadelphia Americans are unable to pay the salary Cobb asked.

This was made known after a conference between Cobb and Connie Mack, president of the Athletics, yesterday.

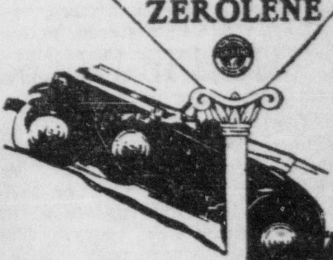

"If we had Sunday baseball we might be able to pay Cobb the salary he has a right to demand," Mack said, following the conference.

but he is as artful as a politician when it comes to pinning him down about even a tentative line-up.

Reginald Rust, the big blond full back who looks like the celebrated Ernie Nevers, is pretty sure to get the big chance in this game. Rust, who came here from San Luis Obispo, has been bothered with all manner of leg injuries until now, never remaining in the game long enough to show whether he was of first string caliber. He is the best kicker on the squad so far the first time this season Poly will have an expert attending to those chores.

Wylie Carlyle, the light but speedy junior halfback, is another new man who is likely to race out on the turf with the honored gentlemen. The other backs may, but again may not, be Johnny Keeler, small but sprightly graduate from the class B ranks, and Ernie Velarde, who is well known for his prowess in the broad-jumping pits during track season, and who has been showing sensationally in practice this week. If Rust, Carlyle, Keeler and Velarde are in the backfield, Keeler will do the signal-calling.

Berry, Lancaster Ends
George Berry and Ray Lancaster are pretty sure to draw the rather difficult assignment of stopping the running junkies of Captain Edwards and Blackburn, Mr.

Berry and Mr. Lancaster both being ends. "Stew" Derickson and Alfred Poulsen, two of the biggest men on the local squad, are tentatively booked to start at the tackles. Derickson punishes the scales in the neighborhood of 183 pounds, while Poulsen, just a junior at that, makes 'em groan to the tune of his 223 pounds. Harden and Reither, first stringers, may open up at these positions, however.

Gene Olsen and Dick Pearce, bulky, scrappy youngsters, are the likely starters at the guards. Cliff Belding, a sweet defensive player on any man's football team, will be at center.

Captain Jack Blakeney, Dud Shaw and Bill Dugger, three of the backs who made monkeys out of Glendale last week, may come on with the introductory personnel, but that is a bit doubtful.

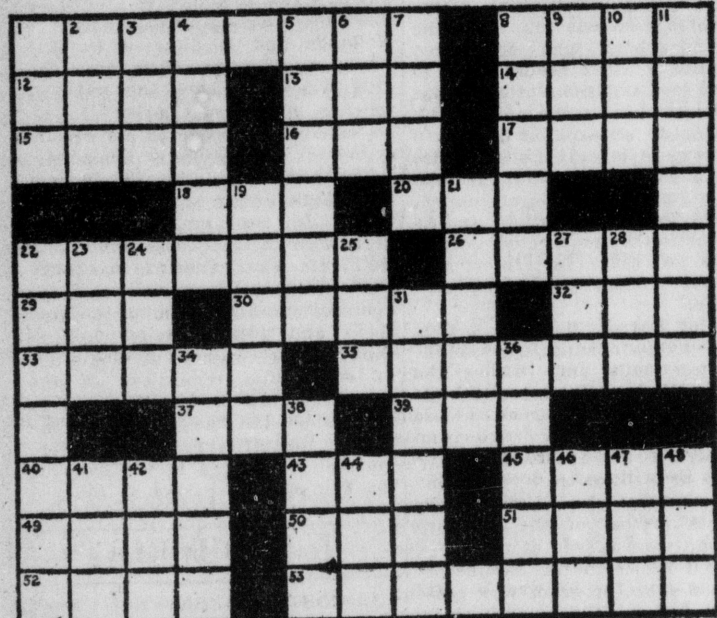

It would not be surprising if Jimmy Musick, the talented line-assaulter, and Melvin Beatty, the broken-field running genius, are held out of the lineup all day to give them a rest so they will be in the best possible physical trim for the Pasadena set to November 11.

THE COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS

Congress is soon to assemble, and the country is looking toward an exciting session. It is a new Congress, but its general attitude toward public questions has already been discounted. It will be Republican in its organization, but anything but Republican in its legislation. The progressive elements in both parties have more in common with each other than they have with their party organizations. The decision of the President to choose not to run will add spice to the session.

The members are going to have their eye and mind toward the fall elections. So we may expect a great deal of debate which is intended primarily to maneuver for position. The usual "point with pride" and "deplorable" resolutions of the various national conventions will have to be prepared for, and they will be prepared for in the Congressional debates. The farmers will be present with all the bells on, and they will have a large following. The manufacturers of the East, of course, as always, will not be without a powerful lobby and a good representation on the floor. The wet and dry issue will be discussed pro and con. There will be considerable milling around, but perhaps not very much accomplished.

That is democracy. In the clash and conflict of parties and opinions we do get much further than we sometimes think. They who look wistfully to a Mussolini to take hold of the situation, and fling the debating elements out of the Congressional windows, deceive themselves into thinking that a better method than democracy has been devised. It was Fisher Ames who said many years ago that an autocratic government is a good deal like a stout merchant ship which sails the sea, and carries its cargo safely into the further port; but when it strikes a rock, it founders, and all is lost. On the other hand, he said, democracy is a good deal like a raft. Your feet are always in the water, but you never sink.

With all its futile debating and its log-rolling, we should not permit ourselves to lose faith in Congress and the principle of democratic government of which it is the expression. We should hardly have the kind of a country we have if the desire of some people should be realized who so often breathe a sigh of relief when Congress adjourns, and wish that it might adjourn indefinitely. We have just as good or bad government as we deserve. We believe that the primary need is information and education, and with adequate information and education the people may be trusted to do what is right. Let us have faith in Congress.

WORTHY OF OUR AID

The American Legion of Orange County is laying great plans for Armistice Day. This year's celebration is to take place at Fullerton. Representatives of the American Legion have met practically all the organizations in the county face to face and presented the plan and asked for co-operation. That co-operation is being given and we believe that there will be a response by the people of Orange county to the request that has been made as will demonstrate to the American Legion that Orange county is one at heart with them and that they can depend upon them to the limit.

Like every other organization, there are localities in our country where those who are in temporary leadership are not carrying out the highest principles and ideals for which the organization stands. This is not so in the American Legion Posts of Orange county and as far as we know of all Southern California. The character of the leadership is the highest. Their purposes are the best and they are making of the American Legion a real factor for all that is good in the social and civic life of our country.

The day itself, of course, challenges every element which our nature possesses to respond as grateful and loyal citizens of this republic. This the day itself deserves. But when added to it is the knowledge that the leadership upon which the character of the celebration depends is all that could be desired, we can enter into the day with a heartiness that insures great success. The making of it a holiday throughout the state is in the nature of an experiment.

We have enough days in which we can have the most hilarious time with races and noise and abandon. There is a certain sacredness and solemnity that should always be attached to Armistice Day which attaches to no other day than possibly the Memorial Day of May. We do not mean by this either sorrow or sadness for we cannot think of Armistice Day without the pulsation of joy that came to us with the knowledge that the conflict had ceased. But with it also comes the realization of the sacrifices, the ideals which stirred our hearts and the purposes which made the sacrifices easy. These are in the minds of the American Legion today. They are formulated in their obligations. They are the beacon lights which light the goal of the leader. They make the day worth while and all of our effort worthy. Let us do our part.

WHAT HIS STORY TEACHES

A copy of the London, England, Express of unusual interest contains much data in reference to the long career, and, finally, self-inflicted death of James White, whose name has for years been a household word in Great Britain.

White was a man of little or no education, but of great ability nevertheless. He was essentially a gambler, one who bet large, and sometimes huge, amounts on anything and everything whereupon money wagers could be placed. He has been known to win as much as one hundred thousand pounds on a single horse race, was frequently known to charter a special train when desirous of traveling, and yet, so great were the vicissitudes of his life, that he was not infrequently so destitute of funds as to be without the price of a railroad ticket. In such cases he walked.

When fortune smiled he had everything; plenty of money, steam yachts, was the owner of newspapers and theaters, and had thousands of friends. At the last a giant gamble in which he had exceedingly large financial interests resulted in complete failure, and White lost everything he possessed.

His life even, was numbered among his losses, for, despairing of ever again being able to get a financial foothold he died the death of a suicide.

This procedure is believed to have been as unnecessary, as rash, and even wicked, for his record of being at all times square and truthful was so firmly established that he had many friends. These knew nothing of his situation until it was too late for them to render the assistance which they were able and willing to extend. The story of this man's life is one which forcibly brings home the great lesson that there is but one ending possible to such a life and such a career. There is no good in, or benefit to be derived from, the money which is gained in any other way than by honest effort. The dollar which is truly and honestly earned always has had and always will have buying capacity exceeding a thousand-fold gained by gambling in any of its many forms.

Fortunate indeed is the man who, while still young in years, realizes that this is, and always will be, true.

All To The Bad

Redlands Facts

A popular movement which was gotten under way not one moment too soon is that in opposition to the so-called "beauty" and "bathing" contests which the National Council of Catholic Women has just declared to be detrimental to the morals, lives and ambitions of American girls.

"Bathing beauty pageants, as the one held annually at Atlantic City, add nothing to the progress of America," the council declared. "These are steps backward and a menace to the morals of the nation."

"I am fond of beauty," one member said, "but when you place a young American girl on the block and judge her by points the same as you would judge a thoroughbred animal, I draw the line."

There does not seem to be any chance for argument as to the correctness of this attitude of the Catholic Women's Council regarding this matter. "Beauty contests" and "Bathing Beauty Pageants" are gotten up for the money to be made by their means. This would be no argument against them were it all that truthfully could be said against them. It is not, however, and every dictate of modesty demands that such affairs be not encouraged.

Help

Oakland Tribune

Some one in Boston advertises the great need in our language for a new word which shall describe "the male person on whom, at any particular time, a young woman's attention happens to be fixed." Lest the closing words of this sentence be misconstrued, due to their indefiniteness, it is added that what is wanted is "the male equivalent of what is generally understood when a young man refers to his 'girl'."

And no sooner was the need pointed out than one who no doubt is always anxious to please supplies an array of words compiled by the late Dr. Roget, which array is as follows:

Lover, suitor, follower, admirer, adorer, wooer, amoret, beau, sweetheart, innamorato, swain, young man, flame, love, true love, leman, Lothario, gallant, paramour, amoroso, cavalier, servente, captive, cicisbeo, caro sposo.

After duly considering these terms, each and several, it is brought out even more strongly that there is a sad gap in our stately speech.

Perhaps some one may have suggestions to offer thereon? Yes?

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

NEW PROBLEMS IN HEALTH BROUGHT BY AVIATION

Physicians have charge of the health of army and navy aviators have found numerous special problems associated with this occupation and they are beginning to develop a special hygiene as a sort of standard.

Flying efficiency depends not only on the physical condition of the aviator at the time of his first examination, but also on the maintenance of this efficiency throughout the aviator's flying life.

The eyes are the most important factor from the physical requirement point of view as is pointed out by Commander R. G. Davis of the medical corps of the United States navy. Sharpness of vision alone is not sufficient, but there must be perfect balance of the muscles so that the aviator has the maximum of binocular vision; all movements must be perfectly co-ordinated.

Guarding the Vision

Dust, oil, sand and glare will produce congestion of the eyelids and of the eye itself which will impair vision and ruin judgment as to landing. Therefore, goggles with adequate side screens and lenses of plain non-breakable glass should always be worn.

The goggles recommended must have a wide visual field and they are mounted on a face pad of rubber or wool. The eyes are examined repeatedly, since it is known that vision may be impaired following a severe cold or the prolonged use of the eyes in close technical problems.

The care of the ears is important as well. Aviators know the necessity of maintaining an equal air pressure on each side of the ear drum. Changes in altitude vary the pressure greatly.

In rapid descents the aviator swallows frequently in order to equalize air pressure on each side of the ear drum. Sometimes it is necessary to hold the nose and blow in order to expand the ear drum when congestion may be present.

Greatly unequal drum pressure will produce sudden severe pain and may cause a perforation of the ear drum. For this reason, examiners for the aviation corps are likely to disqualify pilots who have ear drums with scars or with severe inflammations.

Plugging the Ears

It is also known that blocking of the eustachian tubes which pass from the throat to the ear may result in dizziness or lack of co-ordination, so that the examiner makes sure that both tubes are open before he accepts the candidate.

The roar of the motor reduces the hearing ability and it is frequently customary to keep a plug of cotton in the external ear to protect the hearing sense when flying.

One of the conditions that the medical corps guards against is staleness. The strain of flying produces a progressive lowering of efficiency with a depression of mental and physical activity.

Various forms of staleness have been described as related to the muscles, the nerves, or the breathing apparatus, and also that related to disorders of digestion. Since staleness is a potent factor in crashes, the hygienists recommend a complete rest or change of environment for from a few days to a month whenever signs of staleness appear in the flyer.

TRICKED

Nellie brought home two coats for me
To see.
"Wishing to strike
The one I'd like
Her to wear," said she.
And she asked, when both of the robes
I'd seen;
"Which shall I keep, the brown or green?"

Now we had agreed on the price we'd pay
That day.
And I said to her:
"That is lovely fur
On the brown, I'd say
And since it's matter of choice then I
Declare that the brown is the one to buy.

"The green has a cheaper look, my dear!
See here;
The fur is short
And it's not the sort
That will last, I fear.
This coat with the brown you cannot compare,
And green's not a color which you should wear."

"You think I look better in brown," said she
To me.
"And you really mean
You don't like green?
Then the brown 'twill be:
Perhaps I ought to have said before
That the brown will cost you a hundred more."

Mussolini's Name Carries Afar

In ancient Rome the Caesars were not only rulers of their people. They were also gods. There is evidence that the Fascisti of modern Rome are aping the ancient city. They have made of Mussolini their Caesar. They, too, want him to be sacrosanct. Inside Italy, their job is easy. He who pokes fun at Benito the great, he who criticizes him, or speaks lightly of him, can be beaten up by Fascisti bullies or sent to Fascisti jails, or exiled to bare rocks in the Adriatic. But the Benito idolatry does not stop at the frontier. It goes into other lands. It takes umbrage at editorials. It shies at jokes. It is shocked by clowns.

The other day a little one-ring circus came to Sarajevo, the tragic town now included in Yugoslavia, where fanatics assassinated an Austrian archduke and thus started the World War. In the course of his job, the clown in this circus sang a funny song about Mussolini.

Everybody laughed except the Italian consul. He at once went to the prefect at Sarajevo and lodged vigorous protest. The poor old clown lost his job. Thus was Fascist idolatry satisfied.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pace

Mary Watkins was sitting on her front steps on two cushions and I walked over slow wondering if she was still mad at me for making her laugh and show the empty space where her tooth was, and she didn't get up and go in the house when she saw me, proving at least she wasn't as mad as she was, and I said, Hello.
Her not saying anything, and I said, I think its real becoming.
Meaning the empty space, and she said, O go on, your jest saying that.
No I aint either, and if you want proof heers a poem I wrote about it, I said.
And I took it out of my pocket and gave it to her, being wroth in ink with a lot of hearts around it with arrows sticking through them, being two verses as follows:

Your teeth are pretty when their in,
Of that there is no doubt,
And was even more unusual,
Their pritty wen their out.

There are the spaces on the prairie,
There are spaces on the sea,
But the space you tooth did occupy
Is the fairest space to me.

Her reading it and saying, O, I think thats perfectly beautiful. Well, its the truth, I said.
And I sat alongside of her and we talked about different subjects, her talking natural and laughing wide on account of not caring weather I saw the space any more or not.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THE French tariff war is off, after all. Evidently the foreign offices of both countries conducted themselves more sensibly in the actual negotiations, behind closed doors, than they did in their public defiance for home politics. The French will not impose discriminatory tariffs on us, and we will not impose retaliatory tariffs on them, pending the discussions, and we concede that there is something to discuss, and that we are competent to discuss it. So far, so good. If the State department can continue to show the same intelligence throughout, and if Congress does not blow out the whole thing by exhibiting too little intelligence, we may have tariff peace, instead of tariff war.

A POLL of Episcopal Clergymen showed, of those canvassed, a majority of two to one against prohibition. Naturally, The Church of England, and its American branch represent the non-Puritan tradition in religion. A similar poll of Methodist clergymen would have shown a practically unanimous vote for prohibition, since they represent another tradition, in which drinking is un-Christian, in spite of the fact that Christ did it. Impartial, objective judgment is not to be expected of either. That is not what they were ordained for.

CLARENCE DARROW, who is neither sort (nor any other sort) of a Christian, repeats the common fallacy of drawing a false analogy between eating and drinking. There are people who eat too much, he says, and others who drink too much. But it never occurs to us to prohibit food because gluttons abuse it.

Neither do we prohibit drinks, in which excess is still gluttony. Ice cream soda and egg malted milk, taken to habitual excess, are doubtless bad for the digestion, and to the diabetic they may be dangerous. That is no reason for interfering with their moderate, or even excessive use.

But let Darrow discover a food which is habit-forming; whose moderate use dulls and fuddles the brain and lessens the moral inhibitions; and whose excessive use makes men nuisances always and wife-beaters and murderers frequently. He will find it does not take seventy years of education to prohibit that food outright.

MULTIPLY nothing by something and the answer is still nothing. But multiply something, no matter how small, by a large enough factor and the result is something substantial. That is the reason business was still done in German marks when they went down to forty billions for a cent. That was at least more than nothing—enough money so that four thousand billions of them were a thousand dollars, and you could buy a Ford automobile, plus freight and duty, for that sum. In fact, a dam and harbor were actually built on the Rhine, at a cost of 10,000,000,000,000,000 marks. So a forty-billionth of a cent does not weigh much, but the newest estimate is that 8,400 tons of hair have been shorn from American femininity since the bobbed-hair craze started.

Now is the time for some equally ingenious mathematician to compute how many millions of words to one idea the Congressional Record shows.

THE woman who finally lost her patience, after her husband had argued for 37 years that the knife should be placed on the left side of the plate, was certainly entitled to her divorce. Yet the question still arises—why did she keep up her end of the argument all these years? She was right, to be sure, and he was wrong—but why is the difference between right and wrong important when the thing itself is small?

Is not more unhappiness caused by false perspective than by actual wrong? If we could only learn to see small things small and large things large, there would be more peace and more progress in the world. If a great war overwhelms us, or if corruption undermines our liberties, it will be because we fail to see things large. And if home is a place of petty frictions and annoyances, it is usually due to failure to see small things small. Let the other fellow be wrong, in the small things. And see that you have the character to be right, in the great ones.

NOW Milwaukee is going Chicago one better, by getting after anti-German books in the schools and libraries. J. P. Bouscher, former president of the Muehlenberg unit of the Steuben society, demands that books describing the war in which we fought Germany shall say that we were right in doing so. Soon we shall no doubt have a censorship demanded on all books defending Germany in its attack on them. If this thing keeps on, books will be as innocuous as Will Hays threatens to make the movies—and as stupid. Can't we all realize that, after all, it is the best Americanism to let the other fellow have his opinion, and express it?

Mansion Saved

From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.—Lovers of old Paris will be pleased to hear that one of the most interesting buildings in the Marais quarter is now being carefully re-erected by its owner. The structure is known as the Hotel des Ambassadeurs de Hollande and is situated in Rue Vieille du Temple, close to the spot where, in 1407, the duke of Orleans, brother of Charles VI, was assassinated by order of his cousin, Jean San Peur, duke of Burgundy.

The present building dates from the middle of the seventeenth century. It has undergone many degradations in the course of its long life. Its first floor is so lofty that some thrifty owner in days gone by was able to build an extra floor and ceiling half way up thus making two sets of rooms out of one, quite regardless of the mural decorations. It is hoped to restore as far as possible the stately magnificence of the old mansion as it was in the days of the Roi Soleil.

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

A CHILD has just so much energy that must find an outlet and expression. If he is kept properly busy and interested this energy is used constructively and everyone is happy, but let an energetic child suffer from lack of interests and he's going to invent something to do, and that's when grown-ups so often consider him pestiferous and a problem.

IN a brown old hollow tree
Lived Too-Whit and old Too-Whes,
And each eye was like a shiny yellow marble;
All the day they hid and slept,
But at night-time, Oh, they kept
Up a hooting-tooting in a constant garboil!

All the neighbors said, "It's AWFUL,
It should really be unlawful
To keep up such an uproar every night,
If they simply WON'T keep still,
I'll tell you what, we will
Have the landlorp put them out, it would serve them right."

BUT the landlorp, Mr. Crow,
Said, "It's only this I know,
That they haven't any work to pass the time;
Why not make them night police
And we all could live in peace?"
The rest all thought his plan was just SUBLIME

And Too-Whit and Too-Whes
Were as pleased as they could be
To guard the sleeping forest every night,
And they only called the hour,
Or to warn folks of a shower,
Or to tell the sleeping world that all was right!
